New Weapons And Confusion

When the huge guided missiles came by in the inaugural parade, the President looked at them grimly, and now and then shook his head, as if to say there were no words to speak.

The crowd, too, was silent before them. Indeed, so still were they, one could hear the whine of the gears in the monster vehicles which carried, or pulled them, as they moved slowly along the black pavement of Pennsylvania avenue.

The President of the United States is the man who was in command when the vast assembly of invasion ships was created in the channel; and the great massing of troops was arranged for packing them into the landing craft concentrated there by the thousands.

The atomic and nuclear bombs have rendered that sort of military density obsolete. The President knew that as he looked. Indeed, he has been aware of it for a long time. This fact, too, is behind the attempts at reorganization of the Army into mobile units transported by various types of aircraft.

There remains confusion over weapons, service roles and missions. The services themselves feel that the latest decision by the secretary of defense, in which he, in effect, tried to more or less rigidly allocate functions, weapons and missions, was so unrealistic that only regulations prevented them from denouncing it as preposterous.

Team Members

"It was as if the head of a conference had said to the team members which plays they could use and which players could carry the ball," said one officer in comment.

The Air Force and the Army both are unhappy. The Navy, as usual, seems to have won what it wants. But who shall handle the ground-based missiles, and whether the Army or Air Force or both will carry out tactical airlifts, mass movements of troops, and so on, is not yet decided.

The British operation at Suez is being used in the debate. No official explanation of the tremendous tardiness of movement by the English once they had announced an invasion of the canal has been made. But since Cyprus, from which the airlifts were to be made, is but a short distance from the Suez, it was obvious something went wrong. Our people are convinced that Britain's military operations are so benumbed it took them several days to mount what was, after all, a very minor invasion force.

Our people are great believers in being ready . . . and the Army doesn't want to have to wait on the Air Force when it needs to move . . . and vice versa.

Meanwhile, our strength remains rather high. No real evaluation is possible because the new weapons, and the place of nuclear weapons, are still classified under security.

Sixth Fleet

The Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean probably is the best trained and most efficient one in the world. It has been there on almost constant maneuvers for a long span of years. It has had rotating changes in command. It has been able thoroughly to test all the experiments and innovations. It is the presence of this fleet which has deterred Soviet expansion in the Middle East. Our Seventh Fleet is in the Pacific.

The Seventh Army in Europe, and the Eighth Army in Korea are two "ready" armies. The Russians today are complaining about the ring of bases about them. We do have such "missions" in all our associated allied lands. This is a fact which our people sometimes forget. When we lose an ally, we lose also a base for our own operations.

Gen. Curtis LeMay has the Strategic Air Command in a really very high state of readiness. It, as well as our Army, is dependent on Allied bases. Gen. LeMay sent his B52 bombers on an around-the-world journey last week. It demonstrated what could be done. But it also indicated the need for refueling bases.

The President, as Commander in Chief, can hurl a strong thunderbolt. But the new weapons have all military men wagging their heads. The sort of armies and tactics they used when Ike was Allied commander no longer fit today's military world.

Living Costs Here Fourth In Nation

U.S. Index Soars To Another Peak

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—Living costs in Atlanta are higher than the national average, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics disclosed today.

The BLS announced that the consumer price index for the nation last month reached a new high of 118.8, which was 2.9 per cent higher than a year ago.

Atlanta's consumer price index was listed as 19.5, placing it among the top four of 10 cities tabulated for a cross-section of the country.

GOLDEN GATE HIGHEST

Of those cities, San Francisco had the highest index with 121.6, followed by Chicago with 121.0, Detroit with 120.2, and Atlanta and Baltimore with 119.5 each. Los Angeles, St. Louis, Philadelphia, New York and Cincinnati, the other four cities, had lower ratings.

Atlanta's food, transportation and medical care costs were slightly lower than the national average, but its housing, apparel and personal care costs were higher.

In the nation, the cost of living rose two-tenths of one per cent in December to an all-time high.

BUYING POWER UP

The average earnings of factory workers also set a record in December, so that the buying power of these production workers went up despite the price rise.

The consumer price increase spelled hourly wage increases of 1 to 3 cents for about 500,000 workers, mostly in the transportation and electrical manufacturing industries, because they have "escalator" contracts. Under these contracts wages fluctuate with the cost of living.

Commissioner Ewan Clague told newsmen that prices normally decline in January and February but

Jenkins Asks Help To Halt Car-Stripping

Police Chief Herbert Jenkins Friday called for public cooperation in halting auto accessory thefts, an operation which he termed the number one enforcement problem in Atlanta.

Investigators are able to locate virtually all the hub caps, mirrors, fender skirts and other such accessories reported stolen, Jenkins said. He added, however, there are no present means of identifying the items and thus can be no prosecution.

One tire firm in Atlanta has agreed to stencil in the name and address of owners in hub caps, outside mirrors and other such items which can be removed easily, the chief pointed out. He said he hoped auto dealers and service stations would step forward and volunteer the same service.

The work can be done within a matter of minutes with an inexpensive vibrator pencil, Jenkins related. He said this move "would give us the evidence we need to break up car stripping here for once and all."

The same procedure enabled police in Los Angeles, Calif., to greatly reduce auto-stripping operations in which the property loss totaled $1,000 a day, Jenkins said.

Daily loss in Atlanta is estimated from $200 to $300.

RED SPY SUSPECTS TAKEN TO ARRAIGNMENT AFTER FBI ROUNDUP

FBI Arrests 3 in N.Y. As Red Master-Spies

By HARRISON E. SALISBURY
(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—Three former Lithuanians were arrested at their New York City homes at 7 a.m. today by FBI agents on charges of spying for Russia.

The trio was charged with collecting information relating to the U.S. defense in order to transmit the materials to the Soviet Union or its agents.

FBI officials said Soviet officials may be involved in the operation of what they described as an "organized group" engaged in espionage over a long time.

NAMES LISTED

Those arrested were: Jack Soble, 53, and his wife, Myra, 52, and Jacob Albam, 65.

All three were born in Lithuania. The Sobles became naturalized U.S. citizens in 1947. Albam's application for U.S. citizenship, filed in 1951, is still pending.

U.S. District Attorney Paul M. Williams, requesting that the three be held on bond of $100,000 each, said Soble "replaced the second secretary of the Soviet Embassy, Vasily M. Zubilin, as a dominant figure in the espionage ring after World War II."

WATCHED BY FBI

Williams said the "upper members" of the espionage group "are not at the present time identifiable" and that the case has been under FBI inquiry more than 10 years. No details of the nature of the espionage activities charged to the Sobles and Albam were disclosed.

However, the reference to Zaubilin provided some reference. Zubilin came to the Soviet Embassy in Washington as third secretary in December 1941. He left for Moscow in late summer, 1944, after having been advanced to the post of second secretary.

Zubilin was identified in testimony of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover (presented to a senate investigating committee in 1953 by Attorney General Brownell) as "the reported head of the NEVD in North America, one of the pri-

Soviets Put More Police Into Prague

VIENNA, Jan. 25 (AP)—Soviet secret police have been rushed to Czechoslovakia to cope with a rising tide of anti-Communist activity in the Stalinist country, reliable reports said today.

The arrival of Russian police with a new team of Soviet "military advisers" last week in Prague coincided with an anti-Communist leaflet campaign expressing sympathy for the Hungarian rebels.

Sources said four Czech trade union officials were arrested in Prague recently for raising funds for Hungarian freedom fighters. At least 200 persons were arrested and held temporarily during December, it was reported.

Czechoslovakia admittedly has had considerable unrest since the Oct. 23 Hungarian uprising.

The top government and party leaders arrived in Moscow today—the fifth Communist bloc delegation to do so since October—for talks with Soviet officials on the eastern European crisis.

Both Czech party chief Antonin Novotny and President Antonin Zapotocky, ardent Stalinists, have admitted anti-Communist feeling in Czechoslovakia.

Lobby Curb Is Outlined By Mackay

Plans for tighter reins on lobbyists were outlined Friday by Rep. James A. Mackay.

The DeKalb legislator said he hoped to replace a bill "no one pays any attention to" with a strictly enforced House rule requiring registration of lobbyists.

$250 FEE

At present there is a law on the books which requires lobbyists to pay a $250 fee and register with the secretary of state. No one has registered under the law since 1941.

Mackay said the size of the fee may be one reason the law has been ignored. He is preparing a bill repealing the existing law.

"Then the House might adopt a rule requiring a register to be kept by the clerk," Mackay continued.

The House Thursday took action to keep lobbyists off the floor while the body is in session. It unanimously adopted a rule sayign that no person other than House and Senate members and officers and press representatives are to be allowed in the House chamber.

IDENTIFICATION

All legislators and the press are required to carry identification cards to show to the doorkeeper who is charged with enforcing the rule.

DeKalb Rep. W. Hugh McWhorter said he spoke to House Speaker Marvin Moate at the beginning of the legislative session about tightening the floor privilege rule. He said he wanted the rule strengthened "so there wouldn't be a re-occurrence of what happened last year."

Last year, he recalled, a lobbyist persisted in remaining in the House although he had once been bodily ejected. McWhorter said that when he took the floor to demand that the lobbyist leave or be arrested, "15 or 20 people got up and left."

McWhorter said he agreed with Mackay's ideas about repealing the lobbyist license law since "they're not enforcing it anyway." He said he did not mind talking to lobbyists because "some of them

Bandits Grab $8,000 From Moreland Ave. Supermart Employe

Robber Fells Woman, Lifts Money Sack

By KEELER McCARTNEY

A supermarket employe late Friday was robbed of an estimated $8,000 in a perfectly timed and swiftly executed coup, police said. Most of the haul was in cash, a small part in checks.

The robbery, without use of a gun, was staged in front of the Simpson Food Store at 765 Moreland Ave., SE.

PLANS WELL LAID

Police said the bandits evidently had obtained exact information on how money was transported from one store to another and planned the raid well in advance.

Mrs. Marvin Brookins, of 635 Hill St., SE, employe at another Simpson store at 3856 Glenwood road, arrived in front of the Moreland avenue store and left her auto to carry the money sacks inside.

Detectives O. L. Adams and J. H. Barnes said a young white man, in a light-colored overcoat and hat, lunged around a corner of the building, knocked Mrs. Brookins down, seized the money sack and dashed down the street to where a confederate was waiting in a getaway car.

OLD-MODEL AUTO

The old-model, mud-splashed auto roared away.

Mrs. Brookins suffered a bruised elbow. Officers said she and a fellow worker in her car, Mrs. P. B. Robinson, of 898 Confederate Ave., SE, spread the alarm.

Employes in the Moreland avenue store, including Paul Simpson, the owner, ran out in time to see the bandits' car disappearing, racing south on Moreland avenue.

SOAKED FLIER SHOWS STRAIN AFTER RESCUE
Maj. W. E. Wynn Talks to Crewman on Rescue Plane

3 Fliers Lost in Crash Found Alive on Island

MIAMI, Jan. 25 (AP)—Rescue planes found three fliers given up for dead signalling excitedly on a barren Caribbean isle today and quickened the hunt for three others missing in the fiery collision of two jet bombers.

The three survivors apparently had baled out into the water when two six-engined B47 stratojets from Homestead, Fla., Air Base collided last night and exploded into huge balls of flame south of Cuba.

The co-pilot of one rescue plane said two of the men picked up were from one B47 and the third from the second plane, raising hopes that the three crewmen still missing may be alive.

How the three men from two planes reached the island together was not explained immediately.

The rescued airmen were found standing on the beach of a long, skinny island covered with bushes about 10 miles northeast of the Isle of Pines.

"They were waving their arms, jumping around and flashing mirrors at us . . . doing just about everything they could think of to attract attention," said Capt. John Morton of Miami, co-pilot of a reserve air rescue squadron plane which helped pick up the men.

They were spotted at 7:56 a.m., nearly 12 hours after the collision of the two bombers.

The survivors were identified as Maj. James McGree McFarland, Jr., 37, son of John McFarland of (1001 Main St.), Watsontown, Pa.; Maj. Winfred E. Lynn, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Elmer Lynn, Paducah, Ky., and 1st Lt. James Edward Rose, Jr., 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Rose of Dallas, Tex.

All three have wives and children living near the base in Homestead. Their wives were flown to Key West, where the men were hospitalized until tomorrow when they will fly back to their base.

Still missing were Maj. William Earl Norris, 41, son of Earl M. Norris, Lansing, Mich.; Capt. James H. Parker, 35, son of Mrs. Etta Effie Parker, Rock Hill, S.C., and 1st Lt. Earl S. Chrisawn, Jr., 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Chrisawn, Sumter, S.C.

All of the men were feared dead by the Air Force last night after the collision occurred on a routine refueling mission. The Air Force said the planes were not refueling at the time of the crash.

'Britain, France Not Wanted,' London Jabs Back at Dulles

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 26 (AP)—British newspapers brought out some bold-size headlines today to report U.S. Secretary of State Dulles' remark that he would rather not have a French and British soldier beside him in the Middle East.

"Dulles Says It's Safer Without Britain" exclaimed the Daily Express in a banner headline across page one. "Dulles Insult to Forces," said the tabloid Daily Sketch banner.

The staid Times said: "Britain and France Not Wanted."

Dulles made the remark before a U.S. Senate committee in reply to a suggestion that he get Britain and France committed to help battle Communist aggression in the Middle East. A State Department spokesman said later that Dulles meant no insult. "By no stretch of the imagination could this be considered as a reflection on British or French forces," he said.

A Times editorial said Dulles had "made another of his irritating gaffes." "Admittedly he was being hard pressed by the Congress committee and was no doubt tired and exasperated, but a statesman should guard his tongue," it said.

The only other London morning paper to comment editorially was Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express.

"The remark is likely to give offense. But the proper response to it is patience," cautioned the Express.

"Mr. Dulles was speaking 'off the cuff.' He is a man to whom the right words do not come readily . . ."

Blackjacking a Tourist Laid to Bryan Sheriff

Constitution State News Service

SAVANNAH, Jan. 25—Sheriff Kyle D. Smith of Bryan County is reported "sick" and unable to appear Saturday to face charges that he blackjacked a young man after an argument in a restaurant near here.

Chatham County Police Chief Thomas J. Mahoney said Smith was supposed to be tried in Chatham police court on charges of assault and battery and "attempted murder." The sheriff is free under $500 bond.

Mahoney said, "I understand the sheriff is sick and in a hospital. The trial will have to be held at a later date."

Smith is reported to have struck Ken Eugene Stafford, 26, with a blackjack in a Chatham County restaurant Thursday afternoon. The sheriff also was accused of ransacking Stafford's tourist cabin.

Mahoney said Stafford was a tourist. Stafford and his wife were staying at a tourist cabin near the restaurant, he said.

Mahoney said witnesses gave this account of the attack:

Stafford was sitting at a counter drinking coffee and Smith and Bryan Deputy Sheriff John W. W. Edwards were sitting in a booth.

Smith "hollered" at Stafford: "Hey, buddy, where's the rest

Flaming Crash In Texas Fog Kills 6 on Plane

BRYAN, Tex., Jan. 25 (AP)—A Sohio Oil Co. twin-engined Beechcraft crashed and burned in heavy fog and drizzle tonight, killing six persons.

The plane, based at Oklahoma City, was reported en route from Houston to Bryan, Tex.

A Bryan funeral home identified the dead as Bob Pomeroy of Oklahoma City, the pilot, and five passengers, Jim Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crary and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Thompson. All were believed from Oklahoma City.

Deputy Sheriff E. H. Williams of Bryan said visibility was zero because of ground fog and drizzle pushed into Texas by a cold front.

Dulles Says Delay in Ike Doctrine Will Wreck U.S. Ties With Allies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Sec. retary of State Dulles fought back against his Democratic critics today, saying the Middle East "White Paper" they demanded would "irreparably damage" relations with Britain and France.

Republicans backing Dulles charged that his foes were trying to destroy him "politically and personally."

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), calling Dulles' policies "disastrous" to this nation's allies, demanded yesterday that Dulles submit a "White Paper" giving a detailed explanation of Mideast events and the administration's handling of them.

Fulbright contended this was necessary before the Senate votes on the administration's resolution which would empower President Eisenhower to give more economic aid to Middle East countries and to fight if necessary to stop any overt Communist aggression.

By JOHN SCALI

But Dulles testified today that this would "reopen all the old wounds" involved in American differences with Britain and France.

"I can't think of anything that would more irreparably damage our relations," he said.

Signs arose that Congress would not demand such a "White Paper" at this time, although congressional committees may plunge into a fulldress review of administration policy later.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) said:

"I see no reason why the administration should not be anxious to review developments in that area and elsewhere in the world. But I see no need of holding up action on the President's resolution until that is done.

"I hope the Senate will proceed expeditiously, but not with haste, to act on the resolution without regard to party affiliations."

Johnson added that "undoubtedly some mistakes have been made" by Dulles and other policymakers. However, he said "I am not in a position to say I could suggest a course that would be better."

Quick House approval of the resolution is forecast, in view of its overwhelming approval last night by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) announced the House leadership would bring the

U.N. Chief Rebuffs Israel's Gaza Terms

Political and Legal Barriers Held Preventing Guarantees

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 25 (AP)—Secretary-General Hammarskjold reported today numerous political and legal barriers prevent the U.N. from accepting Israeli conditions for evacuating Egypt.

He informed the General Assembly in a special report that Israel has not fully complied with five resolutions asking it to withdraw its forces from all of Egypt. Israel holds two controversial areas, the Gaza Strip and the Sharm el Sheikh sector near the Gulf of Aqaba, and has said it will not leave them unless its interests are protected.

BOOSTS 1949 TRUCE

Hammarskjold stated again his view that Israel should get out of Egypt promptly. He pointed to strict adherence by Israel and Egypt of their 1949 armistice agreement as a starting point for restoring peace and tranquility in the crisis-ridden area. Israel has denounced this armistice and Egypt has contended it is in a state of war with Israel.

The report was completed by Hammarskjold and his aides this morning, distributed to the 80 delegates in the Assembly at noon and will be the center of a new debate in the Assembly Monday. It was written in compliance with an Assembly resolution approved last Saturday asking Hammarskjold to continue efforts to get Israel out of Egypt and report on the results within five days.

LEGAL APPROACH

The first Israeli reaction was adverse. Israeli forces said it was a legal approach to a political problem and they did not like it.

Support came from Farid Zeineddine of Syria, one of the most outspoken opponents of Israel in the U. N.

Zeineddine called it "fundamentally a good report" and expressed agreement with its main points. British and U. S. spokesmen called it "constructive."

"We believe," the U. S. spokesmen added, "it is in accordance with the general wishes of the General Assembly. It contains many helpful elements."

SIX MAIN POINTS

In brief, the main points of Hammarskjold's report were:

1. Israeli troops in withdrawing from Sharm el Sheikh would be followed by U. N. Emergency Forces just as they have been followed in other phases of the Israeli withdrawal. The force should not be used to protect any special positions or prejudge a solution.

2. The 1949 armistice agreement still is in force. It prevents the U. N. from accepting, without agreement of the parties, Israeli control of the Gaza Strip, even if it is nonmilitary control as proposed by Israel.

3. The U. N. Emergency Force could be deployed in the Gaza Strip after Israel leaves but only on the same basis as it has been deployed along the demarcation line. It would observe and maintain the cease-fire and could not be an occupation force.

DEMARCATION LINE

4. If the armistice is upheld, UNEF units could be stationed on the Israeli side of the demarcation line in the El Auja zone. It could assist the truce supervisory organization at El Auja and in Gaza if the parties agreed.

5. Egypt has expressed a definite desire that all raids and incursions across the armistice line in both directions be brought to an end and that U.N. auxiliary organs give effective assistance to that effect.

6. The armistice does not apply completely to the Gulf of Aqaba, but if its provisions were fully observed Egypt and Israel would not insist on belligerent rights in the gulf area.

2,700-MILE DASH

B47 Zooms Across U.S. in 3¾ Hours

BEDFORD, Mass., Jan. 25 (AP)—A six-jet B47 bomber, aided by jet stream tailwinds as high as 190 miles an hour, flew 2,700 miles—coast to coast—today in 3 hours, 47 minutes.

This compared with the March transcontinental record 1955 flight of a F84F Thunderstreak which flew 2,463.92 miles between Los Angeles and New York in 3:44.53.

The big Stratojet, carrying four men, left March Air Force Base, Calif., 60 miles east of Los Angeles at 5:17 a.m. EST today. It was clocked at Hanscom Field here at 9:04 a.m. EST, and landed 15 minutes later.

CUTS TIME

Its flight time was less than three minutes off that of the Thunderstreak which covered 237 fewer miles.

The Air Force said the B47 crew sought no speed record but made the flight for the Air Research and Development Command "to check the feasibility of riding a jet stream from the West to the East Coast."

Jet streams, flowing from west to east at levels between 35,000 and 45,000 feet, carry winds between 115 and 230 m.p.h.

GAES SMOOTH

Smith said "everything went smoothly," and the weather was "very good." He said the swept-wing craft rode a jet stream from Albuquerque, N. M., to Hartford, Conn.

Capt. Charles S. Hawkins, of South Windsor, Conn., navigator, reported the bomber's highest speed was 740 m.p.h. near Dayton, Ohio, where the jet stream was at its highest velocity.

Others in the crew were Lt. Hayden Y. Grubbs Jr. of Richmond, Ky., copilot, and Warrant Officer James J. Lunsford Jr. of Tampa, Fla., instrument specialist and weather technician.

U.N. Urging Arms Talks by 5 Big Powers

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. Jan. 25 (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly's Political Committee, sidestepping a public showdown on disarmament, voted unanimously tonight for a Soviet-Western compromise plan to refer the issue to Big Power private talks.

The Committee adopted a 12-nation resolution for that purpose and sent it to the full Assembly, where its final approval was certain.

2-WEEK DEBATE

The vote climaxed a two-week debate during which the compromise was worked out in private negotiations on the sidelines. The proposal was the first on disarmament since 1954 with joint U.S.-Soviet sponsorship.

The resolution recommended that the 12-nation Disarmament Commission and its five-nation subcommittee "give prompt attention" to pending disarmament proposals from Canada, Japan, Norway, Britain, France, the United States, the Soviet Union, India and Yugoslavia.

The three-year-old subcommittee consists of Britain, Canada, France, the Soviet Union and the United States. It conducts private talks. The resolution asked the commission to reconvene it "at an early date" with a request that it report back by Aug. 1.

EISENHOWER PLAN

The proposal recommended that both bodies "give continued consideration" to the Eisenhower open-skies aerial inspection plan and the Bulganin control-post ground inspection plan of 1955. It was the first resolution on the open-skies plan to get Soviet sponsorship.

It also asked the commission, made up of U. N. Security Council members plus Canada, to "consider the advisability of recommending that a special session of the General Assembly or a general disarmament conference be convened at the appropriate time."

The Soviet Union had put in resolutions proposing such a special session, calling for a cessation of nuclear test blasts and recommending establishment of a system for registering test explosions with the U. N.

The new resolution mentioned these four proposals briefly by authorship and date. So their sponsors gave up pushing them and backed it as a catch-all substitute.

Ike Stops Strike; Sets Up Board In Express Row

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower moved today to head off a strike arising out of a dispute between the Railway Express Agency and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

He issued an order creating an emergency board to investigate the dispute over union demands for wage increases and rules changes. Under the railway labor law, this bars any strike until 30 days after the board has made its report. The board will have 30 days to report to the President.

Members of the board were not announced immediately.

Kadar Raps 'Interfering' By West's 3

VIENNA, Jan. 25 (UP)—The puppet Hungarian government today accused the United States, Britain and France of interfering in Hungarian affairs and said they should "mind their own business."

The statement appeared to be part of a general crackdown on western diplomatic missions in Budapest by the regime of Premier Janos Kadar, still trying desperately to suppress anti-Communist activity

STILL FIGHTING

The Budapest radio admitted today for the first time in more than a month that rebel bands still are fighting Russian tanks and Hungarian militia in the countryside west, south and east of Budapest.

The newspaper Eszakmagyarorszag, published in the northeastern city of Miskolc, once a hotbed of rebellion, reported armed attacks on state collective farms.

It was reported that 200 rebels were seized by tank-backed militiamen last week in the Buekk forest west of Budapest.

Other rebel bands were reported operating against the Communist militia in the Bakony forest of southern Hungary.

U.N. OBSERVERS

The government complaint against the western Big Three took the form of a government commentary broadcast by Budapest radio. It apparently was based on charges by the official MTI news agency that the U.S. and French legations in particular had decided to act as "voluntary observers" for the United Nations.

Hungary has refused to allow the U.N. to investigate the situation in the country on grounds the revolt was an internal affair.

Japan Envoy At Surrender To U.S. Dies

TOKYO, Saturday, Jan. 26 (AP)—Mamoru Shigemitsu, the one-legged diplomat who carried Japan's surrender to the deck of the battleship Missouri, died today at 69.

He went to prison as a war criminal—at Russian insistence—but emerged to help spearhead his nation's amazing postwar comeback as an ally of the United States.

Shigemitsu died of a heart attack at his seaside villa in Yugawara, 60 miles southeast of Tokyo.

He had been foreign minister under Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama until the latter was succeeded by Tanzan Ishibashi, December 21.

86-PROOF COURTROOM BOUT

20-Shot Man Fights Drunkometer to Draw

MIAMI, Jan. 25 (AP)—William C. Rose's novel courtroom bout with a drunkometer ended in a draw today when Judge Francis A. Sobieski decided to grant the burly ex-naval officer a regular trial on drunk-driving charges.

Rose, a 238-pound retired real estate man, tossed down 20 shots of 86-proof whisky in a five-hour courtroom demonstration Wednesday in an attempt to show the city's drunkometer erred when it registered a .246 reading after his arrest. A reading of .150 is considered proof of intoxication.

After the bout with the bottles, Rose tested .122 on the drunkometer and said he was "as sober as the judge."

But Sobieski came to court today prepared to rule the six-foot defendant guilty of drunken driving. If he registered only .122 after one and one quarter pints of whisky, the judge said, then Rose must have consumed "somewhere around a quart of whisky" on the day of his arrest.

"Anyone who drinks to the excess of registering .246 should not drink at all," the judge said.

Rose grimaced in disbelief.

The judge, the city attorney and Rose's counsel, M. H. Rosenhouse, argued about 40 minutes about who stipulated what before the test and just what the demonstration was supposed to prove.

"We never admitted that the drunkometer showed a .246 reading," Rosenhouse protested. "We stipulated that Rose could not have consumed more than 12 drinks before his arrest and then showed in court that the defendant was cold sober with a reading of .077 after he had taken 12 drinks."

Sobieski agreed that there probably had been a "misunderstanding" all around before the test and that he would grant Rose a regular trial Feb. 14.

But the judge said the demonstration proved that Rose was "rapidly approaching a state of intoxication" after he had quaffed 20 drinks. Sobieski said he had studied expert opinions written on the subject and hand come to the conclusion that Rose was "no normal man whose body can probably throw off alcohol about half as fast as he can drink it."

The judge said he believed the demonstration showed that after drinking 20 shots of whisky Rose's body had thrown off 10 and that another four were in his stomach, leaving only six in his bloodstream to register on the drunkometer.

HAS KEG, WILL TRAVEL — OTTAWA, Canada, Jan. 25—Barbara Athans, 4, stands beside her 200-pound St. Bernard, Little Aldo, who is equipped with brandy keg in the best tradition. Barbara's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Athans, brought him from Switzerland to accompany them on skiing trips. Mrs. Athans broke her leg, the trips were called off and Little Aldo hasn't had a chance to earn his daily diet of two pounds each of horse meat, boiled beef and dog biscuits.

Did Slain Girls Tour Bars With Adults? Police Check

By EARL AYKROID

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—Balked by the weather and an absence of clues, police today tried to nail down persistent reports that the slain Grimes sisters went on a pleasure jaunt after they disappeared from home.

The key figures in this phase of the investigation are Edward Lee (Bennie) Bedwell, 21, Skid Row dishwasher with elongated sideburns, and his pal, Richard W. Whittemire, 28, married and the father of two children.

PUB CRAWL?

Bedwell has denied reports that he and another man took the Grimes girls, Barbara 15, and Patricia, 13, on a round of Madison street bar-crawling after they disappeared from their South Side home Dec. 28.

He said his girl companions were not the Grimes sisters and that he doesn't know the name of his male companion.

DENIES DATE

Whittemire, who was seized today in suburban Cicero, told investigators he never accompanied Bedwell on a double date. Police said Whittemire does not fit the description of Bedwell's companion.

He was picked up for questioning after he was overheard to say in a Cicero restaurant that he was Bedwell's pal.

The second snowstorm since the nude bodies of girls were found near a ditch southwest of Chicago Tuesday blanketed the area today with nearly a half-foot cover. It ruled out plans for a foot-by-foot examination of the area.

CHECK BARNS

Instead, investigators rechecked residents in the area and continued the expanding surveys of sheds, barns and other empty buildings in the vicinity.

Commenting on recurring reports that the Grimes girls were seen at various times and places since their disappearance from home, Sheriff Joseph Lohman, coordinator of the investigating groups, said:

"It is hard to believe that this series of identifications is fanciful, fortuitous and irresponsible."

Friends of the family have discounted such reports, saying the girls were not the type to visit bars or run away from home.

STRICKEN AT 3

Boy's Death Wish: 'Help Battle Polio'

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 25 (AP)—A 14-year-old polio victim, whose last wish was that all his money go to the March of Dimes, was found shot to death last night.

David Putnam was found in a bathtub by his father, Winton Putnam, principal at the University Heights Elementary School. There was a bullet wound in the youth's right temple. A pistol lay at his side.

The father showed police a note purportedly left by the boy, which read:

'Please give my money in the bank to the March of Dimes. Have the people who come to the funeral give money to the March of Dimes instead of flowers.

"Again, I am sorry to do this. With love, David."

The boy, a high school freshman, was stricken with polio when he was 3. His left arm was paralyzed as a result of the illness.

14 Refugees Deported, 3 Labeled 'Subversive'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (UP)—Federal Immigration Commissioner Joseph W. Swing disclosed today that 14 Hungarian refugees have been returned to Austria, three of them on grounds of "subversive activity."

He said another 100 refugees out of nearly 23,000 brought here since the Hungarian revolt still are under investigation.

The immigration commissioner made the disclosures following closed-door testimony before the House Immigration subcommittee which is investigating operation of the Hungarian refugee relief program.

Subcommittee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa), who also heads the House Committee on Un-American Activities, has charged that Communists were among the first wave of refugees brought here. After hearing Swing, he said he still was "not satisfied."

He was challenged by another committee member, Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (D-Calif), who said there has been "no clear showing as yet that great numbers of Communists came in."

THREE NOT NAMED

Swing did not name the three refugees ousted because of subversive activity, nor did he describe the specific charges against them. He said only that "their subversive activity was such that we decided they were better out than in."

Of the other 11 returned, he said three or four asked to go back and the remainder were accused of giving false information to immigration officials.

The Justice Department announced on Jan. 8 that nine refugees had been returned up to that time. Eight of them, including a family of five, were accused of giving immigration authorities false information. The ninth asked to be sent back.

"FAIRLY DECENT JOB"

Despite Walter's statement that he was not satisfied, Swing said he felt the House subcommittee believed immigration officials were doing a "fairly decent job" of screening refugees "under the circumstances."

He said charges against some of the refugees "come in every day" and are checked by 32 immigration investigators stationed at the Camp Kilmer, N.J., reception center.

11 Quitting Cabinet in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 25 (AP)—All 11 civilian ministers in President Pedro E. Aramburu's cabinet handed in their resignations today at the president's request. He told them he wanted to reorganize his ministry.

Sources close to Aramburu said he would accept all of the resignations, except two or three, and that he would put new men in such key posts as finance, foreign affairs, interior, commerce-industry and education-justice.

ARMS CHIEFS REMAIN

The three ministers of the armed services—army, navy and air force—were not asked to resign.

Aramburu generally was expected to announce the new cabinet list within the next 24 hours. It was understood reliably that some of the present undersecretaries would be promoted to ministers, including those of foreign affairs, labor and commerce-industry.

Palace circles opined Aramburu wants to give the new ministers in his provisional revolutionary government wider executive powers in handling political and economic policies.

ELECTION HINTED

Some observers believed the ministerial reorganization may be a prelude to calling a national elections for delegates to a constituent assembly to draft a new basic charter. The election was expected to be called for July or August.

Aramburu, Vice President Isaac Rojas and the three armed services ministers who comprise the inner military junta held a four-hour meeting ending last night.

Don't Peril Allied Ties, Dulles Asks

Policy Review Feared Deadly

resolution to the floor next week under a rule barring amendments. Earlier this week Rayburn had said he had favored an "open rule" under which any member could offer amendments.

Dulles appeared today for his fourth full day of testimony before a joint session of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. It was before these groups that he was showered with hot criticism yesterday by Democratic Sens. Fulbright, Humphrey (Minn) and Morse (Ore).

Repeatedly Dulles pleaded with the senators not to delay approving the resolution Eisenhower submitted three weeks ago.

SAYS DELAY A PERIAL

"If it's going to be done, we've got to do it," he said. "We can't wait our action on action by other governments.

"If we are going to pursue that course, the Middle East will be gone before we can act."

Republican senators led by Aiken of Vermont, rallied to Dulles' support with a letter to Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) endorsing Eisenhower's proposals as "essential to the peace of the world."

"The Soviet Union should be under no misapprehension as to our position with respect to any military aggression which they might contemplate in the Middle East," Hoover said.

Aiken, without mentioning any senator by name, deplored the kind of questions Dulles had been forced to deal with yesterday, contending they went "far beyond the point of constructive criticism."

CHARGES HARASSMENT

Such questioning was obviously designed, he said, to "harass and embarrass" Dulles in his role as secretary of state.

As Dulles blushed, Aiken praised his "clear, forthright" answers, saying they had "wafted away my skepticism" about the need for the Mideast program.

Aiken then offered Dulles an opportunity to comment on Fulbright's demand for a detailed review of Middle East policy.

Seemingly set for the question, Dulles fired away quickly, saying the proposal not only would delay the President's program but would make public many "highly confidential" documents.

These papers cover diplomatic exchanges with other governments "on the highest level," he said, and he doubted whether foreign leaders would want to make them public.

He expressed concern lest the "impact" of the Eisenhower resolution on Communist leaders would be lost because the Senate hearings have concentrated on "such a great mass of detail."

Sen. Morse hammered away at Dulles as to the reason the administration had not asked Britain and France to share the burden of defending the Middle East from Red aggression.

Dulles suggested Morse "give very serious consideration" to the bitter Arab feelings toward the British and French in the wake of their invasion of Egypt.

"Personally, I'd rather not have a French and British soldier beside me, one on my right and one on my left," Dulles said.

Morse conceded that this aspect "bothered me, too" but said the Middle East resolution should include "some guarantee American boys don't go over there alone."

FBI Grabs 3 in New York As Bigtime Soviet Spies

mary branches of Soviet intelligence in North America."

Possibility that the case might have ramifications extending to other countries was indicated when a check of Soble's background disclosed he had extensive connections in Canada and France, supposedly in connection with a bristle and brush business in which he was interested.

Albam was employed as a foreman at a tea and spice company in Brooklyn, New York.

The Sobles lived in comfortable circumstances in a six-room apartment in a well maintained nine-story building on West 78th street. Rent was $180 a month. Other tenants in the building had nothing unusual to report about their neighbors.

Federal authorities contended the Sobles were preparing to "flee the country." Mrs. Soble angrily denied this at the arraignment, saying, "It's certainly wrong. We didn't consider any fleeing from the country."

2-COURT CASE

The complaint against the three carried two counts, a charge of conspiring to commit espionage and one of acting as Soviet agents without registering with the state department. The first charge carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison and $10,000 fine and the second 10 years and $10,000.

While the death penalty is not involved in either of these counts the final complaint will be drafted by a special New York federal grand jury which will be empanelled Monday. The two present complaints date back only to actions since 1947.

The grand jury could, however, bring in more severe charges. War-time espionage carries a possible death penalty as does espionage committed after Sept. 3, 1954.

WROTE REPORT

The overt act specified in the FBI complaint charged that Soble, in the furtherance of the espionage conspiracy, wrote a report on or about May 30, 1956. He also was charged with delivering to "an individual" two letters, one of 26 pages and the other of five pages, on Aug. 15, 1956, for delivery to agents of the USSR.

The Sobles are not related to Morton Sobell, a defendant in the atomic espionage case of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The Soble case is the first major espionage arrest in the U.S. since that of the Rosenbergs in 1950. The Rosenbergs were executed in 1953 on conviction of atomic espionage.

room?" Stafford ignored the question.

Smith "hollered" again: "Hey, son, where's the rest room?" Stafford retorted: "I'm not 'buddy' and I'm not 'son.' I've got a name and I'm a customer the same as you."

A waitress then told Smith he could find the rest room on the side of the building. He went. On the way back he met Stafford coming through the restaurant door.

They started arguing and the sheriff "popped" Stafford over the head with the blackjack, then tried to force him into the sheriff's car.

Stafford struggled, but Smith "threw" him into the car. He drove him to Stafford's tourist cabin. Mrs. Stafford let them in and Smith "ransacked" the cabin, leaving things "littered" on the floor. Then he searched Stafford's car.

Smith then returned to the restaurant with Stafford. County police took both men into custody at the restaurant. Stafford was put under a $100 material witness bond. No charges were placed against him.

Mahoney said Smith "gave no reasons" for his actions.

"I asked the deputy why he didn't interfere," Mahoney said. He told me, "Well, the sheriff's the boss and everything happened too quick."

Mahoney said the official report of the investigation shows "Smith was drinking, but not drunk." He said a test showed Smith had .07 per cent alcohol in his blood.

said he cannot foresee "much change" this year.

In his economic message to Congress on Wednesday, President Eisenhower called attention to the recent price rise and urged business and labor to restrain price and wage increases to curb inflation.

Today's report also dealt with the average earnings of factory workers. It said that average spendable earnings—meaning income after tax deductions—went to $69.10 for a factory worker with no dependents and $76.54 for a worker with a wife and two children.

This was up about $1.30 from November in both cases, and up five per cent from December a year ago. The "real" income, or buying power, of the factory worker was about one per cent up for the month. BLS attributed this largely to seasonal overtime pay and said the income figure will show a drop for January.

have good ideas." But he added that he prefers to talk to them "out in the hall" rather than in the House chamber.

Meanwhile, Mackay said he wants to study a bill proposed by Rep. Frank Twitty of Mitchell to take the $25,000 ceiling off political campaign expenses. Twitty has said this ceiling "makes liars" out of politicians.

Mackay pointed out that the version of Twitty's bill he has read repeails a section which, along with the expenditure ceiling, also includes a requirement that candidates file affidavits giving the sources of their campaign funds.

Declaring that he felt it is important to retain the requirement for filing affidavits, Mackay said he plans to study law books to determine if there is another section which imposes this requirement.

The legislator said he favors the bill but feels that it is "in the public interest" to know where campaign funds come from.

DeKalb County Commission Chairman Claud Blount startled politicians last year by admitting in an affidavit that he had overspent the limit by $2,000 in getting elected.

lice and the State Patrol were alerted. However, officers said the robbers either slipped through highway blockades or turned off the main highway into a side street and returned to Atlanta.

Detective J. J. Morris was within half a block of the store when the robbery alarm was sounded. Morris, assigned to the juvenile squad, said he had picked up two youths for fighting and was driving them home.

Hearing the alarm, Morris left the youths in the patrol car and ran into the store only to find that the robbers had already fled. He said only Mrs. Brookins' auto was in front of the store when the radio lookout was placed.

Let Urban Renewal Be Goal for 1957

What has happened to urban renewal plans for Atlanta?

While it is impossible to answer that question exactly, there is no doubt about one thing. Slums in the downtown area, choking expansion and spreading their blight, still exist. They are having an increasing effect on the direction of Atlanta's growth and development. They are threatening downtown property values and the tax base.

The rush to the suburbs continues. Recent nationwide studies prove that this flight basically is a retreat from the slums. Atlanta is no exception to the pattern.

Population growth in downtown areas —and this applies not only to Atlanta— has lagged far behind the total growth in population. This cannot be traced entirely to a great urge for a home in the suburbs. There are many families who would like to remain downtown. Suburban living is not without its inconveniences and strains.

In Atlanta, and elsewhere, travel time and travel costs are becoming increasingly burdensome. This is resulting in more and more dispersion of business, adding further to downtown blight.

Pressures for services rise and the addition of same in the suburbs cost increasingly more money. Tax rates increase and there are the anguished cries for services without taxes, an obvious impossibility. Services can be provided in downtown areas a great deal more cheaply.

Urban renewal makes sense in every aspect. Downtown areas must be repopulated and business allowed to expand within a central framework. The alternative is continued blight, lessening of tax values, less business for downtown concerns and deterioration in property values.

Let's hope that 1957 finds the program in Atlanta out of the planning stage and on the road to action. We have only to look to the experience of other cities which are taking advantage of federal aid and every other possibility to save themselves many millions through the years to realize its value.

Urban renewal is good business for business, for government and for the people.

Skeleton in State Closet Gets a Whiff of Hot Air

Gov. Griffin has dusted off the ancient skeleton in the state's unique closet of governmental procedure and dressed it in another thin cloak of excuses.

He is parading the weary old county unit system as the reason for denying the DeKalb delegation's request for reapportionment of the counties' representation in the House of Representatives.

The DeKalb solons had asked for appointment of a commission to study the present basis of apportionment, which is riddled with inequities, and to recommend a constitutional amendment to be voted on next year.

The request points out that the state's eight largest counties have approximately 40 per cent of the population and less than 12 per cent of the representation in the House. On the other hand, 63 counties with 13 per cent of the population have 30.9 per cent of the representation. The 35 smallest counties have less population than the one county of DeKalb but have 32 more representatives.

Small counties certainly are entitled to fair representation. By the same token, so are the large counties which pay by far the greater portion of the state's tax bill.

But the administration rules out any just approach to the situation. The governor fears it would weaken the county unit system, that pet of many a political machine. However, there was nothing in the request which suggested its abolishment or deviation from the present system in state primaries.

Gov. Griffin in his refusal throws in a statement that every county is entitled to an effective "voice" in its state government. In the case of the larger counties, he apparently wants that voice to be a whisper.

Would Americans Like Such Treatment Abroad?

Knowing full well its intent, thoughtful persons will dispute both the effectiveness and the wisdom of the bill already passed by the House of Representatives to require merchants selling Japanese goods to post a sign to that effect.

In the first place, the bill is probably unconstitutional. At the same time, it is not likely to have much effect on any textile markets except those here at home.

The Japanese recently agreed to restrict exports of cheap textiles to this country—which is the main purpose of this bill. Unless the Japanese live up to their agreement, it is the federal government's job to impose quotas. Surely national officials would not permit serious damage to the home textile industry.

The battle has been won and President Eisenhower pleads that Japan not be further antagonized.

As a matter of principle, it should be pointed out that Americans did 50 billion dollars' worth of business abroad last year. This included imports, exports and proceeds to American firms operating in other countries. It provided jobs for hundreds of thousands of our own citizens and accounted for much of our prosperity. Millions of yards of our own textiles were sold abroad.

What if all these countries tacked up signs saying, "Americans do business here," "American goods sold here," etc? Would any American like it? And yet that is exactly what the Georgia bill would do.

The textile industry deserves the protection accorded all American industries. But let's be reasonable and let's be sensible. This bill is neither.

YMCA Expansion Is In Line With Growth

The Metropolitan Atlanta YMCA is in the midst of its first major funds drive for capital improvements in more than 40 years. It seeks $3,250,000 from the community to bring its facilities and services up to date and make them a credit to a city of this size.

Included in the proposed improvements are renovation of the eight-story downtown YMCA building on Luckie street and 11 new branch buildings throughout the city as well as modernization of the Butler street structure for Negroes. The latter development, built in 1918, was the last major capital investment the city has made in its YMCA program.

In 1918 the population of the metropolitan area was only 300,000. Today it stands at more than 800,000. Obviously the facilities are outmoded and far too small to carry out a YMCA program which adequately meets the community's needs. Its work now extends far beyond the narrow confines of downtown out into the suburban areas and small towns in the metropolitan community.

The YMCA program is a great asset to Atlanta and to all the people in the area. Its youth training programs, including athletics, have proved invaluable in guiding youngsters—especially the underprivileged and those denied recreational opportunities. Its adult program has been an equally valuable asset.

The Y's board of trustees, backed by other leaders of the community, feel that the capital improvements needed can no longer wait. Much of the money already is in sight. But before the funds drive is over, every citizen who values youth and the Y's contribution to community life will be given an opportunity to share in the objective. We urge every individual, business firm and civic organization to help put it over.

Tinkle of Player-Piano Is Real Welcome Music

Looks like they'll have to whip up a successor to those old "Piano-Roll Blues." Player-pianos are bouncing back and the future looks rosier.

Today's version of the pedal pumper is somewhat streamlined from the ones flappers did their flapping by some 30 years ago. The new musical model is a low-slung console with a simplified player mechanism.

A wealth of songs will tinkle from the keys of the rejuvenated player-piano. They range from such oldies as "Moonlight Bay" to—well—all the way to Elvis Presley. So let the good times roll.

Rome, Cartersville Road Needs To Be Replaced

Those who know their Georgia roads, the best and worst, are gratified to learn of plans to build a new highway from Cartersville to Rome.

The present highway, a section of U.S. 411, definitely comes under the heading of "worst." The road is narrow, crooked and marked by numerous hazardous bridges.

Both the Rome News-Tribune and the Cartersville Tribune-News report the completion of the survey for a new route between the two cities. The report says, too, that construction of the highway has the green light on Capitol Hill in Atlanta.

The sooner built, the more convenient and safer for those who must travel between the Bartow and Floyd County seats.

Georgia Women Voters League Urges Defeat Of Bill Designed To Cut Japanese Imports

Atlanta — State House Bill 20 and Senate Bill 9, requiring all wholesale and retail establishments who sell Japanese imports to display a sign saying, "Japanese Textiles Sold Here," have prompted the League of Women Voters of Georgia to write letters to the Senate Rules Committee and the House Committee on Industry urging them to report the bills unfavorably.

The league is convinced that passage of such legislation would hamper our relations with Japan. It appears to be unconstitutional, violating the Treaty of Friendship, Commerce and Navigation made with Japan in 1953.

In view of the recent voluntary restrictions the Japanese government has placed on textile exports to the United States after long negotiations between the two countries, it seems to us that such action poses not only a threat to Japanese trade but could be very damaging to our own trade since this and similar treaties also protect American products from discrimination and boycotts all over the world.

In short, we do not feel that this proposed legislation would solve the problems of the textile industry but could lead to countermeasures against imports from this country.

President, Georgia League of Women Voters.

Decatur Citizen Notes Middle East Revival

Decatur—In the midst of political and economic turmoil and upheaval in the Middle East a great spiritual event is taking place in the city of Beirut. This is a revival among the American population of the city and the surroundings. A young American evangelist, Rev. S. Doctorian, whom I call the Billy Graham of the Middle East, is moving the people spiritually.

The great revival which is sweeping the city will have an influence upon the population of the Middle East.

Rep. Ray's Bill Gets Additional Comments

Elberton — Two of your columnists have attacked Rep. Ray's bill dealing with welfare payments to unwed mothers. These columnists' lively imagination makes them good writers but their limited field of vision puts them in an indefensible position on this subject.

Rep. Ray's bill is not directed at the woman who will bear the burden of a guilty conscience the rest of her life. His bill is directed at the repeating offender who brings children into the world with callous disregard for the accepted standards of a civilized society and with the premeditated intent of getting herself and children on the public welfare rolls.

Rep. Ray is attempting to place in our legal code a barrier to illegitimacy which is tangible and understandable to everybody.

HOWARD S. MILLSAPS.

Atlanta—House Bill No. 30 as reportedly proposed by Rep. Ray of Warren County is both cruel and unjust. It is cruel because it proposes to convict an unwed mother on a criminal charge at a time when she already has a most difficult problem to solve. It is unjust because it would convict only one of the two parties who participated in the "crime."

NAME WITHHELD.

Washington, D.C.—I understand that State Rep. Jack Ray of Warren County plans to introduce in the House a bill making unwed mothers subject to possible criminal prosecution.

Now I think this is about tops in interference and I am hoping that the good people of Georgia will not stand for such heartless legislation.

RUDOLPH RAYFORD.

Rome — I hope no one will become unduly disturbed about the proposal of Rep. Ray concerning unwed mothers. It is assuredly absurd.

If Rep. Ray will digest the intelligent views of Dorothy Ricker and Celestine Sibley regarding his well-intended, but practically unfeasible bill, surely he will file it where it rightfully belongs.

Let's Make Georgia's Schools Real Institutions of Learning

In the Brantley Enterprise

As an observer of our present-day schools and as a former teacher of five years' experience, I believe our schools are now handicapped by three big problems, aside from the problem of inadequate financial support. One big problem is the over-emphasis on school athletics. From the opening of the fall term until far into the spring our schools are in a frenzy of football and basketball activity.

So many games are played each week, so many trips to far places for games, that little time is left for heavy homework at digging out the nuggets of learning or training in hard thinking over textbooks.

A sane and reasonable athletics program is a good thing for any school. But to throw any school into athletic hysterics for nine months is to weaken the educational program by sidetracking the students from the hard task of learning. And learning does require much time and mental sweat.

A second big problem in our schools is the many drives for funds for public causes. Our schools tend to become collection agencies instead of educational institutions. No money drives whatever should be allowed in our schools.

Schoolteachers and school officials know they are being imposed upon by the public agencies that foist money campaigns upon the schools, but they can do nothing about it unless the parents and the county boards of education stop it.

A third big problem in our schools mainly involves the senior classes in our schools. This is the year-around senior campaign for funds to make long trips at the term's end.

A great deal of the time and interest of the senior class is given over to combing a vast area for funds in the form of so-called "advertising," or for putting on various programs of entertainment for raising funds for the annual class trip.

Such conditions have grown up through the years until it is very unpopular for anyone to raise a word of objection.

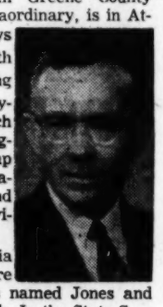

All of these problems are squarely in the laps of the patrons and the local school boards. The teachers and principals, even the county and city superintendents, can do little about them unless they have the firm backing of the parents and boards.

It is a remarkable job our teachers are doing, what with the many handicaps under which they labor. If we will relieve them of so many distracting problems, they will be enabled to do a much better job for our splendid "rising" generation.

The Jones Boys Have a Lobby

T. Hamp McGiboney, a county commissioner in Greene County and a Lion extraordinary, is in Atlanta these days cutting a swath with his walking cane and enjoying his first hitch in the State Legislature. Hamp has done legislative research and come up with vital statistics.

In the Georgia House there are seven members named Jones and six named Smith. In the State Senate there is nary a Jones nor a Smith.

"So you see," says Hamp, "averages don't hold. Certainly the Joneses and the Smiths missed the boat in the Senate."

Speaking of statistics, there was the preacher who prayed "O, Lord, the increase in crime is alarming. The rate is going up every day. If you don't believe it, Lord, I can quote statistics."

Which leads to a reminder that the Southern Ballet of Atlanta, nonprofit and no-tax organization, is on its toes getting ready to open its 11th season with a two-day performance, Feb. 1 and 2.

Not only ballet devotees, but historians will have an interest.

The piece de resistance, the big act in the center ring, is "The Enchanted Island," a fantasy in dance about Colonial St. Simons and Fort Frederica at the hurricane season.

Which reminds me of the country boy showing his girl through the Fun House at the carnival. They came to the place where a big wind blows up to balloon skirts.

The boy said, "Be careful of that air."

The girl said, "Be careful of that air what?"

The Combat Soldier Could Be Unhappy

At first glance it would seem that the plan soon to be submitted to Congress, to pay the enlisted soldier, airman or marine according to his skill instead of his length of service, is fair and reasonable and right. It is nothing more nor less than the plan which has always been in effect in industry—the principle of paying a man according to his productivity, a reward not only for his industry but for his intelligence and the time he spends mastering his specialty.

There are, however, a few obvious bugs in it which the enlisted soldier no doubt will hasten to point out. For example, back in the motor pool you've got a skilled mechanic who is a wizard at keeping trucks running. He has been to all the Army schools. He can tear one down and put it back together again and he is a genius with a wrench and a pair of pliers. He is possessed in full degree of what the military calls a "hard skill."

Now consider another GI, the man who drives the truck. All he knows is that when you kick the starter the motor runs or is supposed to; or when you turn the wheel to the right the truck goes to the right. He is the master of a "soft skill," which under the new pay plan would give him pay considerably less than his "hard skill" pal back in the motor pool.

But here's the rub. The mechanic back in the motor pool usually can hit the sack and sleep unmolested once he's got the truck in running shape. The truck driver has to push it up there where the shooting is going on. He gets loaded with C-rations and ammo and medical supplies and starts out up a mud road he's never seen before, trusting in God and the MPs to guide him to the battalion he's supposed to find.

So, who deserves the fattest pay at the end of the month.?

Another illustration: You've got a platoon sergeant in a rifle company. He is a fighting soldier and that's all. He knows his weapons and he knows terrain and he knows scouting and patrolling and he knows how to lead men. Every hour of the day or night when his platoon is in combat, he must make decisions which may mean life or death to the men under his command. Who deserves the higher pay, this skilled combat soldier, or the little guy with the diploma from radar school, who twiddles with electronics back in a rear-area repair depot somewhere?

Nobody who knows anything about all the services denies they have a terrific personnel problem. The skilled technicians are absolutely essential and they are the ones who are going out into civilian industry when their enlistments are up. And some way, the services must find a way to keep the skilled people in to make it possible for them to make a career out of the service.

The big danger lies in overlooking the fact that the combat troop leader, the man with stamina, fighting heart and a tactical education, is a highly skilled technician, too, who practices his skills where they pay off best—on the battlefield.

He is not going to be too happy if he knows some electronics expert with the same stripes on his sleeve is drawing more pay.

How Will America Use Its Strength?

In "The Christian and His America," Gerald Kennedy, a Methodist bishop, writes: "No one really sees America until he has looked at it from the outside, and then traveled through its rich and varied land. My work during the last eight years has given me both of these experiences, which has resulted in a certain basic conviction. I believe that America is a faith and its greatness is rooted in Christianty."

That "America is a faith" is something to stir our hearts and inspire our souls. We know that America is a piece of territory, that it is a sovereign political Republic, that it is a "melting pot," and so on. Have you ever considered America to be supremely a faith, a conviction about life, an aspiration?

The good bishop continues: "Christians must play an ever-increasing role in the contemporary American scene, and the Christian church is the decisive factor in determining American destiny."

In the pages the reader of this book, which has just been published by Harper & Brothers, will find much that makes him mighty proud of his heritage as an American and as a Christian. But there is much, too, that will inspire and challenge him, and much also which will disturb and sober him. For the author does not think of America as powerful in the finished record, a page from history. He looks forward more than behind. And in the future he sees a greatness yet to be achieved, a promise yet to be fulfilled and a work still to be accomplished.

America is powerful among the nations, rich in human and material resources. What are we going to do with all this strength?

There are some who suggest that we should hoard it or keep it in a miserly fashion just for ourselves. There are others who counsel that we should let well enough alone. Some say that we must get stronger and let the rest of the world go by. What is the Christian answer?

First, we must gratefully and humbly acknowledge our indebtedness to Almighty God and to our God-fearing fathers who built with faith and courage a free Republic on these shores. Second, we must recognize that our greatness is an empty thing if we do not increase our faith to match the requirements of this hour. Third, we must dedicate our nation to the eternal purposes of the Lord and be willing to serve and sacrifice as He may require. From that nation to which much is given, God will require much. Perhaps God has entrusted us with what we have so that we may become His instrument to serve and save our world.

But such thoughts will hardly occur to us until we, too, think of America as primarily a faith, the greatness of which is rooted in our religion.

Farmers Migrating En Masse to Cities

"MISSING: 60,374 farms, last seen in State of Georgia. Description: Rather small, some with deep furrows across the face; many dressed in nondescript, one-crop clothing, worn and tattered. Disappeared during years 1950 to 1955." The ghosts of many farms are across the Georgia lands. The drastic drop since 1950 is only a part of the story of agricultural change which has unfolded during this century.

'Way back in 1920 there were 310,732 farms in Georgia. More than 145,200 of them are gone now, slipping away with their toil-worn hands and their laughing children into the never-again land where the mule "hees" not and the cow lows no more for milking.

Today's 165,523 farms is a number slightly less than half of the total farms in operation 35 years ago.

Where have they gone and where are their people?

A large number of the missing acres are under the vast reservoirs which have come into being within the past decade. Fish swim where the cotton bloomed and corn tassel waved in the gentle breezes. Allatoona Lake has put its wet hand across the land and Lake Lanier today is stretching out its fingers. There are others. But this conversion of land to lake is only a tiny portion of the mystery of the missing farms.

Bigness, a sign of the business structure in recent years, extends to the rural economy also. Large farms have emerged where once there were many small ones. Agricultural experts say the farm factory is the most efficient way to raise our crops and fibers.

Another big change is the development in south Georgia of the paper industry. Lands that once nurtured families now are planted in pines to feed the great machines which make packaging and wrapping products.

It is easy to see where the people who once operated these farms have gone: They are in the cities. Each census in Georgia reveals the growth of metropolitan areas and the depletion of strictly rural places.

During the past five years when the number of farms dropped so markedly there was a falling also in the number of sharecroppers, a part of the exodus from the land. The U.S. Department of Commerce just this week reported 13,500 sharecroppers disappeared during the half-decade, the number left on the farm established at a mere 27,688.

The land changes and the people change. Those coming into the cities are struggling to mechanize their skills in conformity with the new environment. The small unit which lives within itself is disappearing in society, be it farm or be it family.

Meanwhile, Georgia Tech, winner of three out of its last four games (all on the road), tries to conscript some Volunteers for the debit column at Knoxville, Tenn.

Kentucky, still minus ace guard Vernon Hatton, and Vanderbilt lock up in a game of showdown at the Commodores' arena. If the Wildcats win, as they are favored to do, Kentucky will join either Georgia or Auburn in moving alongside idle Tulane at the top of the SEC pack.

Kentucky, Georgia and Auburn are 3-1 in the league while Tulane stands 4-1.

Elsewhere around the loop, Florida is at Alabama and Mississippi State at Memphis State.

Coach Red Lawson's Georgia forces have gone from one extreme to the other in the past two weeks. After edging Auburn in a tingler and calling timeout for eight days, they went down before lopsided counts at the hands of Florida State and Mercer.

Al Ciraldo will broadcast the Georgia Tech-Tennessee game over Station WGST beginning at 7:55 p.m. Saturday.

Fortunately for the Athens team, neither was a loop loss, and a rejuvenated showing good enough to win against the Plainsmen would elevate the Bulldogs into the SEC's stratosphere.

However, Coach Joel Eaves' Auburn sharpshooters are equally sure it's time for a change—in their favor. The Tigers, too, have had their ups and downs lately.

They followed their defeat by Georgia with a tight overtime victory over Alabama, then went down before a deliberate, keenly honed Tech team that wouldn't take no for an answer.

Any time Tech and Auburn collide it counts to them, but only their Feb. 4th duel at the Dome counts in the SEC standings.

Coach Whack Hyder is going with his rugged eight, first at Knoxville, then here Monday night when the Baron (Adolph Rupp) and his Kentucky boys ride into town.

The eight: Captain Bobby Kimmel, whose 16.5 average is setting the team's point pace, Alt.-Capt. Lenny Cohen, Terry Randall, Bud Blemker, Gary Phillips, Jim Johnson, Jess Carroll and Ham Stith.

Tennessee retaliates with Captain Herman Thompson, who gets around 17 points a game, Don Bingham, Leon Ammerman, Dick Kellar, Gene Tormohlen and Bob Gipe.

Thompson is Randall's personal assignment.

Tech's play has been tremendous throughout most of this away-from-home-January, and the Jackets are at Alex Hall for all but three of February's cage engagements.

Sophomore Rex Frederick, who owns 178 points, 176 rebounds and a 16.2 average, leads Auburn's talented crew, while Ray Allen, the junior ace of the one-handers, paces Georgia.

Jim Nolan's Tech freshman will meet the neophyte Vols in a preliminary game.

The Happy Fella

BUCHANAN, Jan. 25—For a man who has been going to spring training camps since 1928, Whitlow Wyatt seemed overly enthusiastic about his forthcoming trip to Clearwater, Fla.

A bit of probing, however, uncovered the reason. The nation's top pitching professor figures he'll have the National League's best pitching staff in his Philadelphia Phil class.

Outlar

There won't be a man on the roster in better condition than the 48-year-old Wyatt. He is down to a trim 195 pounds, some 10 pounds less than he weighed as a 22-game winner for Brooklyn in 1941. Tending his prosperous farm and hunting have kept Whit lean and hard.

Buchanan's most famous citizen relaxed in the living room of his neat home on Park Heights street Friday and discussed the coming season.

"I can't explain it," he said. "I've always hated to start spring training, but now I'm as eager as a rookie to get down there and get started.

"It's really a pleasure to work with that staff we have," he continued. "You don't have to do much teaching with fellows like Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons and Harvey Haddix. Then there's Jack Meyer, Bob Miller and Jim Hearn. I believe they'll help us lots."

Wyatt feels that the change of scenery from New York to Philadelphia may prove beneficial to Atlantan Hearn, just as his switch from the St. Louis Cards to the Giants did a few years ago.

"Hearn pitched a game against us last summer, and he was throwing as hard as he ever did. He's got the stuff to be a winning pitcher, and I think I can help some."

—Philly Pitching Would Win for Redlegs

Anytime the Phils are mentioned, the name of Robin Roberts, the N.L.'s premier pitcher, pops into the conversation.

"Roberts won't brush those hitters back," Wyatt said, "but I don't believe a tougher competitor ever walked out on that mound. He fights you on every pitch, and the rougher it gets, the rougher he gets. He's even greater than they tell you he is.

"And that Simmons isn't far behind. He has recovered from his sore arm, and I look for him to have a fine season. In fact, he could be the surprise of the league. That Haddix is plenty tough, too. He's one of the better pitchers."

It was mentioned that Wyatt might have a new student this spring in veteran infielder Granville Hamner. A bum left shoulder, which hasn't responded to treatment, may force Hamner into the pitching profession.

"If he can control that knuckler, he'll be a winner as a pitcher. That thing has spasms. It's one of the best knucklers I've ever seen. He pitched some last summer, you know, and looked all right at times.

"You can say I'm really high on this pitching staff," Wyatt said, "but don't say I'm predicting any pennant, for I'm not. We should have a good club, but it's going to be plenty tough in our league.

"Milwaukee, Cincinnati and Brooklyn look like the teams to beat. Those Braves really have a lot of talent. I agreed with Bill Bruton the other day when he was quoted as saying Cincinnati would win the pennant, with Milwaukee's pitching staff. They'd also win it with ours."

—Whit Remembers Batboy Bates

"What about the Crackers?" Wyatt, who grabbed the pennant, playoff and Dixie Series at Poncey in 1954, inquired.

He was informed that John Mullen, the Milwaukee farm director, has said the outlook is bright; that Earl Mann seems optimistic, and that Buddy Bates seems to be a popular choice as a manager.

"Bates should do a good job," Wyatt said. "He's a smart baseball man who knows how to get along with his players. I never will forget the first time I met him."

Wyatt smiled, rubbed his bald head and remarked, "That was a long time ago. I was pitching for Beaumont back in 1931, and Bates was the bat boy. I believe he signed with the club as a player the next season."

Stressing the fact that this is the last year on a three-term contract as a coach with the Phils, I inquired whether Wyatt intends to rejoin the managing fraternity.

"I certainly want to try my hand as a manager again," said the man who resigned undefeated as a manager. "Though I had played several years in the majors, I think being up there as a coach has helped me. I'm sure I can do a better job now as a manager.

"The more I stay around baseball, the more I'm convinced that the mental attitude of a team is at least 50 per cent of it. Of course, you have to have talent, but an unhappy ball club is usually a bad ball club."

That factor, it should be noted, is one of the reasons why Whitlow Wyatt will make some team a fine manager in 1958. As the 1954 Crackers will tell you, they were always happy playing for Whit.

Hagan Turns Down Job Offer at Tech

Wise, Sauer To Be Interviewed For Backfield Post Next Week

By BERT PRATHER

Georgia Tech's head football coach and athletic director Bobby Dodd must continue his search for a backfield aide to replace Frank Broyles. Top candidate Harold B. (Bo) Hagan advised Dodd Friday that he'd decided to stay at Rice Institute.

Bo, freshman coach at Tech for three years before going to Southern Methodist and then Rice, had conferred with Dodd Monday about the job. He asked for time to return to Houston, Texas, and talk it over with Rice head man Jess Neely.

Hagan told Dodd Friday that after much thought and conferences with his wife and Rice authorities he had come to the conclusion that it would be for his best interest at this time to stay at Rice.

He thanked Dodd for his offer and giving him so much time to make up his mind on the job.

Dodd now plans to talk with several candidates before narrowing the field to a single applicant.

Carl Wise, offensive backfield coach at Clemson, is expected to be interviewed next unless Wise, who is currently in Texas discussing similar position with University of Houston, takes the Cougar job.

Wise did a splendid job for Coach Frank Howard's Orange Bowl Tigers the past season and is known to be on the list of several schools looking for a backfield aide.

Another who'll probably be invited in for an interview early next week is Johnny Sauer, resigned head coach of The Citadel. Sauer, who played on the great U.S. Military Academy teams of 1943, '44 and '45, will be remembered in these parts as coach of the 1946 Ft. Benning eleven which won the service championship.

He returned to the Academy in 1947 to serve three seasons under Coach Earl Blaik. He was an assistant to Bob Woodruff at University of Florida for three years starting in 1950 before serving as backfield tutor to the Los Angeles Rams for two years.

Sauer took over as head man at The Citadel in 1955. He was succeeded by Eddie Teague, a Jim Tatum aide at University of North Carolina a few weeks ago.

Sauer is also being considered for the backfield post at University of Miami.

After he signs a backfield coach, Dodd then will give consideration to signing a new freshman coach to fill the spot left vacant by John Robert Bell. Bell went to Southwestern Louisiana Institute as head coach and athletic director shortly before Broyles took the head job at University of Missouri.

TV SPORTS A' PLENTY AWAIT DIALSIDE FANS

The Atlanta sports fan who likes to sit back in his easy chair on a pleasant Saturday afternoon, turn on the television set and just relax can do so today with either basketball, ice hockey or horse racing. If he's a dial twister, he can see 'em all.

Here's the lineup:

Basketball—The Philadelphia Warriors vs. Fort Wayne Pistons (WSB-TV), at 2:30 p.m. Ice hockey—Boston Bruins vs. New York Rangers (WAGA-TV), at 2 p.m. Horse racing—The $25,000 added Royal Palm Handicap at Hialeah Park in Miami, Fla. (WSB-TV), at 4:30 p.m.

The Warriors, defending National Basketball League champions, use a one-two scoring punch of Paul Arizin (6-4) and Neil Johnston (6-8). George Yardley (6-5) and Bob Houbregs (6-7) gear the fast-breaking Pistons, who will be home-standing.

Boston's Bruins, handicapped considerably by the loss of ace goalie Terry Sawchuk, bring in their second goalminer in two weeks with the addition of Don Simmons, recalled from the hockey minor leagues. It's the Bruins' TV debut, but the Rangers, who thrive on camera work, have won two previous before-the-camera duels.

Wheatley Stable's Gray Phantom is the early favorite at 2 to 1 in the Royal Palm race at Hialeah Park. Hasty House Farm, however, has the defending champion in Sea O Erin.

DeVicenzo Leads at Jamaica

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 25 (AP)—Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina Friday shot a six-under par 62 to lead a star studded field at the halfway mark of the Jamaica Open golf tournament with a 36-hole score of 127.

The Argentine veteran finished the second round with a lead of eight strokes over five American pros, who tied for second place. They were, Frank Larned of West Orange, N.J.; Stanley Dudas of North Hills, Pa.; Phil Greenwald of Hinsdale, Ill.; Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., and Doug Sanders of Cedartown, Ga.

De Vicenzo, his putter red hot went out in four-under par 29 and came home in 33. Two under regulation figures.

Larned, who had a 65 Thursday to tie Dudas and De Vicenzo for first-round lead, slipped to a 70. Sanders, one of the favorites, improved on his first round par 68 with a 67 but even that fine golf was no match for the South American.

Georgia Eyes Stoll For Coaching Post

Denver Line Coach To Visit Butts at Athens Next Week

By AL THOMY

Calvin Stoll, 33, a line coach at the University of Denver, is one of the men being considered for the interior line coaching job at the University of Georgia, the Constitution learned Friday night from a Colorado source.

Stoll is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where he lettered as a defensive end in 1949. He coached the Mound, Minn., High School team to the state championship, compiling an 8-1 record there.

Later he joined John Roning, another Minnesota graduate, and has been with him since, four years at Utah State and two at Denver. During the past two years Denver has won 14 games and lost six.

At Utah State, the Roning team's best year produced a 9-2 record.

Stoll has been called one of the "brightest young coaching prospects in the business" by Bud Wilkinson, University of Oklahoma coach who ranks Stoll in the class with his own line coach, Gomer Jones.

The assistant coach of the Pioneers is expected to visit Athens early next week. He is reported traveling in Pennsylvania.

Should Stoll be the next Georgia interior line coach, he will succeed Harry Wright, ex-Notre Dame blocking back and guard who recently resigned.

The University of Georgia just this week replaced end coach Perron Shoemaker with the signing of John Gregory, who comes from McNeese College in Louisiana.

If Butts decides to hire two coaches, one to replace recently elevated Johnny Griffith, the other is expected to come from a list of Clyde Earhardt, Decatur High assistant; Bernie Reid, Albany coach, and Weyman Creel, Northside head coach.

Spring practice at Georgia begins Monday afternoon.

Cousy Dunks 30 In Celtic Win

BOSTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Incomparable Bob Cousy scored 30 points and rookie Bill Russell 22 as the Boston Celtics registered their fifth straight victory by defeating the short-handed Minneapolis Lakers, 115-106, in a rough nightcap of a National Basketball Assn. doubleheader.

Atlantan Vickery Leaves Alabama

Roy Vickery of Atlanta, junior left tackle for the University of Alabama, has quit school.

Vickery, who was a starter on the Crimson Tide last season, will not return next fall due to personal reasons.

The 218-pounder plans to continue his education in Atlanta. Vickery came into his own in the Tulane game when Sid Neighbors was injured and was outstanding on defense against Georgia Tech.

Stan Lopata

Warren Spahn

Spahn, the Braves' ace lefty who will be 36 himself in April, tagged the National League champion Brooks for no better than fourth place this season "Because too many of the Dodgers are getting over the hill."

Warren, in Milwaukee to pick up a writers' award and meet with the Braves' brass on his '57 contract, also declared he "Can't see Cincinnati at all" as a pennant problem.

The Braves, said Spahn, will win the NL flag, and no doubts about it.

The only other player with anything to say was catcher Stan Lopata, who said "yes" to his contract offer from the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Chicago Cubs signed outfielders Walt Moryn and Jim King.

The Braves, also with 18 contracts in hand, signed a pair of rookies, catcher Mike Roarke and outfielder Ev Joyner. The Pittsburgh Pirates received signed contracts from left-handed rookie pitcher Roger Sawyer, 22, of Los Angeles; and Fred Waters, 28, of Hattiesburg, Miss.

Frick got into his verbal hassle with the collegians during a question-answer session at the Executives' Club in Chicago. While favoring the lately departed major league rule that prevented a club from signing a collegian until after his sophomore year, Frick said the rule was meaningless because the minors never respected it.

Then Kenneth (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten Conference commissioner, replied "I've always felt the majors mainly own the minors and they could tell them what to do."

Frick eventually got around to remarking he wondered whether the coaches in favor of the rule were worried about the player's education or his eligibility.

Elsewhere, Frankie Frisch, the old Gas House Ganger, told a St. Joseph, Mich., group today's training camps are "country clubs without dues."

Machen Wins Easy Decision

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 25 (AP)—Eddie Machen, the powerful young heavyweight comer from California, battered his way to an easy unanimous decision over former light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim in the 10-round main event Friday night at the Miami Beach auditorium.

The 24-year-old Machen, third ranking contender for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title, dropped Maxim for a nine count in the ninth round and pal Joey had to hang on desperately to keep from going down for good.

Maxim, pudgy around the middle but still one of the ring's master boxers, held Machen off for six rounds.

Dot Kirby Falls To Downey, 1-Up

Reynolds and McDonald Lose; Stewart Ousts Two Foes

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Jan. 25 — Southern champion Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, Md., ousted Atlanta's Dorothy Kirby from the Helen L. Doherty golf tournament here Friday morning, 1 up.

Later in the day Miss Downey bowed to Shelia Moss of San Bernandino, Calif., 4 and 3, in a quarter-finals match.

Mary Ann Reynolds of Albany and Mrs. Grady McDonald of Atlanta, were also eliminated in Friday morning's second round. Mrs. Reynolds dropped a 4-and-3 decision to Anne Quast of Marysville, Wash., while Mrs. McDonald fell before National champion Marlene Stewart of Font Hills, Ontario, 5 and 4.

In the afternoon Stewart whipped Betty Kerby of Akron, Ohio, 1-up, and Quast beat Terry Logan of Newark, N.J., 5 and 4 to setup a replay of their semifinals match in last year's National at Indianapolis, Ind.

Joanne Goodwin of Dartmouth, Mass., who defeated Betty Probasco of Chattanooga, Tenn., 1-up in the second round, came back in the afternoon to trounce Mary Patton Janssen of Charlottesville, Va., 4 and 3.

Miss Goodwin, the defending champion in this tournament, meets Moss in the other semifinal match Saturday morning. Moss' second-round victim was Marge Lindsay of Decatur, Ill. She won this one 1-up.

Stewart had to stage an uphill battle to beat Kerby. Two down with six holes to play, the Canadian miss finally clinched the decision with a par four on the 18th. Kerby's five-foot putt for a par rimmed the cup.

Five Share Lead In Thunderbird

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 25 (AP)—Five professionals shared the lead with eight-under par scores today after the second round of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational golf tournament.

In order of finish with 36-hole 134's were Art Wall Jr., Julius Boros and Billy Maxwell each with second successive 67's; Doug Ford, who fashioned the finest score of the day, a sparkling 64, and Ken Venturi, who added a 68 to the pace -setting 66 he had yesterday.

Boros, former National Open champion from Mid Pines, N.C., had an outstanding 30 on the back side as the 43 invited pros toured the country club's 6,843-yard par 36-35—71 course.

Ford, of Mahopac, N.Y., recent winner of the rich Los Angeles Open, did the trick in 32-32.

In the windup of the 36-hole pro-amateur sideline event, with each pro paired with three club members, the winning pro was Wall, from Pocono Manor, Pa. He picked up $1,000 for his team's best ball score of 112.

Paired with Wall were movie and television stars, Randolph Scott, who shot an individual 69 and Dezi Arnaz. Harrison Fisher, Los Angeles auto dealer, was the third.

One stroke behind the five pro leaders was Cary Middlecoff, who was the co-leader yesterday and took a 69 today.

Tied at 136 were Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N.Y., with a 69, and Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B.C., 68.

Art Wall Jr., 67-67—134; Julius Boros, 67-67—134; Billy Maxwell, 67-67—134; Doug Ford, 70-64—134; Ken Venturi, 66-68—134; Cary Middlecoff, 66-69—135; Mike Souchak, 67-69—136; Stan Leonard, 68-68—136; Bo Wininger, 68-69—137; Bob Rosburg, 71-66—137.

OUCH! THAT JOHNNY 'O'

LITTLE FULCHER WHITTLED 'EM TO SIZE

The bigger they are, the harder they fall!

Not necessarily so, says bright-eyed Bill Fulcher, a young man who should know. The professional gladiators, who put a premium on beef, were somewhat stunned to watch this 186-pounder playing corner linebacker for the Washington Redskins.

Their surprise turned to admiration when they followed the cat-like movements of Fulcher, who got there "fustest" with the "leastest" but still made his tackles and pass interceptions.

Young Bill doesn't pretend to come back to Georgia Tech as an all-conquering hero.

"Those fellows are rugged," said Fulcher Friday after a hot session of basketball with assistant coaches Jack Griffin, Jim Luck and Dick Inman. "They would always try for that extra yardage, and sometimes they would get two-three yards after I tackled them. Most of those backs weigh over 200.

"It was rough, but I like it. At corner linebacker, I played right on the end. Toughest back I ran into was this Johnny Olszewski of the Chicago Cardinals. He's a rugged customer. And as for the best blocker, you couldn't beat Bob Schnelker of the New York Giants. He's an end.

"I'm not taking anything away from Ray Beck (ex-Georgia Tech star). When we played the Giants. Ray blocked me a couple of times . . . good, clean blocks.

"Do they say anything to me about my size? No, they don't, and I'm here to tell you, I'm not going to bring the subject up and irritate them. I'll just leave well enough alone."

Fulcher, now back in school to get his degree, hopes to play professional football for several years "unless I am drafted."

One thing he remembers about the 1956 season: "I intercepted my first pass—high school, college and pro—against the New York Giants, and it was a big thrill."

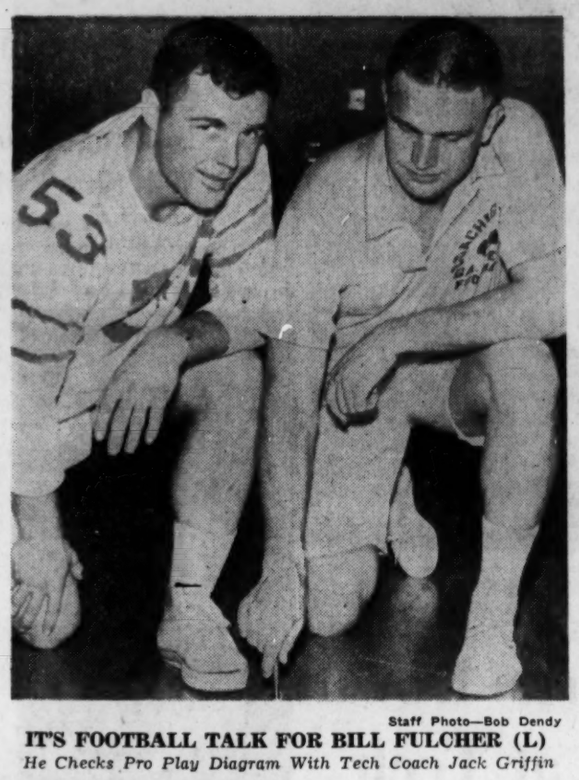

The pro game is something again, said Fulcher. "All that passing, and they say this was a year of the running game. I'd hate to see a passing year up there."

He nominated Detroit's Bobby Layne as the best passer he faced.

Redskin coach Joe Kuharich, in Fulcher's opinion, is a "good fellow and a fine coach."

"Offense?" Fulcher echoed the question. "No, I'm too little for offense."

Then a pause. "Come to think of it, I'm also too little for defense." —THOMY.

By RAY BLACK

A red-hot Bass High five held Murphy's Eagles on even terms through the first half but failed to keep the pace and lost, 65-55, Friday night on the Bass court.

Morris Mitchell and Milton McRee shared scoring honors for the Eagles with 21 and 20 points respectively, and they controlled the backboards most of the way, particularly in the second half.

Joe Thompson was outstanding for the losers with 20 points.

In the first quarter, which ended 18-all, Murphy had eight field goals in 22 tries, while making only two fouls good in four tries. Bass shot five field goals in 11 tries and made good eight fouls in eight chances.

Fulton High School converted a torrid second period into a 52-42 victory over Southwest High Friday night in a City League basketball game at the Fulton gym. Southwest gunned into a quick lead, and threatened an upset during the boys' game. The Wolves had a 14-6 first quarter edge, but that evaporated under Fulton's relentless 17-point second period surge. The Fultons had a 23-20 half-time lead.

POLIO POWWOW—Chief Big Heart serves as peacemaker for Don McIntyre (L) and Dr. Jerry Grahame in a discussion of Saturday night's March of Dimes wrestling card at Grady High gym. McIntyre will be after Grahame's Southern heavyweight crown in the feature match while Big Heart takes on Don Lewin in another bout. Tom Drake battles Mark Lewin in the 8:30 opener.

Chief's Hurt Neck Wins For Grahame

Dr. Jerry Grahame defeated Chief Big Heart in the feature match of the wrestling card at Marietta Friday night when the Indian was unable to come out for the third fall due to a neck injury. Big Heart won the first fall in nine minutes, Grahame took the second and then came the injury.

China Mira beat Don Dotson in two straight falls in the semifinals, and Tom Drake and Pierre LaSalle fought to a 20-minute draw in the opener.

At Forest Park, the Lewin brothers beat Don McIntyre and Chris Averoff in a tag team match. Red McIntyre, scheduled to fight with Don, was injured early in the week in an accident and was unable to take part in the bout.

Grahame is scheduled to tangle with Don McIntyre Saturday night at Grady High in a March of Dimes benefit. In other matches, Big Heart will meet Don Lewin and Drake takes on Mark Lewin. The bouts get under way at 8:30.

Tibbetts Leads Owls Past Russell, 62-52

Football Ace Drops 20 Points; W. Fulton Girls Triumph, 52-47

By DON BAIRD

Marvin Tibbetts, prominent member of the West Fulton football alumni, became a basketball plutocrat Friday night in helping chalk up a 62-52 failure against the visiting Russell Wildcats.

Tibbetts, starting his third game after being injured before the season, pumped in 20 points, including a much-needed eight in the final stanza, to aid in sapping a Wildcat surge that was dangerous until the final moments.

The girl friends made it a clean take, bouncing the Russell ladies 52-47, with the Owls' Roberta Beck and Russell's Rho Robinson hitting for 23 markers each.

Behind Tibbetts in the night's audit came those shifty guards, Jerry Cole and Jimmy Rakestraw, who hit for 17 and 11 markers respectively.

High for the losers was forward Jerry Hudgins, who threatened with 18 markers, Donnie Holcombe, with 13, and Frank Quinn with nine.

Russell led at every quarter post except the third, where the Owls' machine began to gain momentum to earn a 42-40 edge at that point.

Bennie Farmer, nursing four fowls in the final stanza, was the man on the boards for the victors.

Secret Weapon's 5 Finds Lead Continental All-Age Competition

By BILL ALLEN
Constitution Outdoor Writer

QUITMAN, Jan. 25—A throwback white-and-liver pointer male with the exact appearance and the exact name of his grandsire, Farmer's Secret Weapon, but with some added intelligence—pointed five coveys of quail perfectly Friday. And he hunted with sustained vigor for an hour and 50 minutes to lead contenders at noon for the Continental All-Age championship here.

The little Frenchman, Phil Brousseau, piloted the muscled dog with good judgment with the aid of Fred Bevan, Waynesboro, late Thursday afternoon. Owner J. S. Farmer, Pontiac, Mich., was here and probably had the most thrilling two hours of his life. No one in field trials deserves to win more than Farmer and Brousseau, but the championship is only half over.

Friday before noon, field-trialdom's whiz-kid mischief makers, Paul Walker of Mockville, N.C. and Fred Arant, Barnwell, S.C., put on a personal duel with mock severity replete with gnashed teeth and sly remarks out of the gallery's hearing.

Walker ran his champion veteran, the Haberdasher—"Old John" to his friends—and Arant ran Harold Crane's newest acquisition, Q's Delivery Doone, a white and liver youngster who has many wins.

After 30 minutes, the vocal duel quieted considerably and the two dogs took over the circus. These two handlers had their only chance in many a year to compete with their brag dogs, and it was a dead heat.

In ten minutes less than two hours, each dog handled quail four times and each dog had an unproductive. Arant and the Doone dog had worst luck, though. Their unproductive point was at the end of their race. Walker's was earlier. Walker's Old John backed Arant's youngster twice—the most satisfying picture yet in this championship competition. Q's Delivery Doone handled rather toughly and Haberdasher was course-wise and careful toward the end.

In two other braces, handler Howard Kirk became ill for the second time while handling his young white and black pointer, Gunsmoke. Ed Mack Farrior took over, braced with his father, Ed Farrior, and B. McCall's great pointer Billy Hope. Both dogs ran good hunting races, and Billy had two clean finds. Gunsmoke had two, killed a chicken, and pointed once in birdy cover where no birds were forthcoming.

Thursday evening, Magnum, owned and handled by Dr. A. H. Nitchman of Cranbury, N.J., ran with grit in the hottest weather of the trial, but he was matched, and bettered by Mrs. A. Acton Hall's Stonecroft Babe, pointer female handled by Kirk. Babe ran the far edges under trying conditions and finished with a good covey location at a pine edge in corn.

Avondalers Edge Druids Out of Lead

Forward Johnny Corley's points were decisive Friday night as Avondale High's boys bumped Druid Hills out of the Region 4-AA West lead, 59-52, Friday night.

Druid Hills won the girls game, but the score was unavailable.

Avondale led 28-23 at halftime, and maintained a five-point bulge all the way. But in the final analysis you might say the Druids were simply outmanned. Four of their seven players fouled out, leaving a three-man corps to battle the Blue Devils.

However, Avondale was leading when the Druid Hills' troops were reduced to three, and the winners offered to finish up with a like number, but the offer was declined.

Druid Hills (52)		Avondale (59)
Boylston (17)	F	Bozeman (3)

Scott, Stephens Roll As Brown Cops 11th

Costner, Johnson Hit Big, Too, As Sylvan Quint Falls, 68-43

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Brown High's still unmatched basketball Rebels, as polished as Milady's silver before the inaugural ball, glistened and sparkled to their 11th consecutive victory Friday night, a 68-43 rubdown of Sylvan's Bears at the Brown gym.

Harry Stephens, a medium-sized whirling dervish, hit the nets for 19 points to run his totals for the year to 202 in 11 outings. Buddy Scott, biggest Rebel of them all at six feet two inches, arched in 17 counters, but that wasn't his largest contribution. The husky junior was a monkey on a string as he bounced skyward and down again to claim 16 rebounds and up his season claim total to 155.

George Costner, shooting sparingly, fired only 10 times, but hit five plus a pair of foul shots for 12 tallies. Junior Allen Johnson, last of four Johnny Rebs to reach double-digit scoring figures before the end of the third quarter, went beserk in a nine-point stint in the third stanza and finished with 16 all-told.

Center Jimmy Milton, 6-1 junior who played only about half the game, contented himself with helping Scott win the rebounding wars, staking claim to a whopping 12.

The West Enders kept their unbeaten skein alive the way Coach Roy Rowlett liked to do it, by rushing to the fore and keeping the pressure on. The fact that they made connection on eight of 13 first-quarter field shots, a 61 per cent average, bordered on the fantastic. The 26 of 64 they managed game-long was about their average night's work, 39 per cent.

The Rowletters led first at 8-0 and at all quarter marks, 22-6, 34-23 and 59-35. And the only time it appeared they might have to reckon with a troublesome Bear was when lean Marshall Clarke, 6-3 Sylvan center, popped them with an eight-point, second quarter salvo that once cut the lead margin to eight points at 26-18.

Clarke and Clifford Cleveland managed 13 and 10 points, but the way this run-run-run Brown quint was hitting that was "chicken feed" pointage. Scott twitched the nets on eight of 13 efforts, 61 per cent. Stephens had 43 per cent on 6 of 14, and Johnson 41 per cent on five of 12. That was much too good for almost any team to coupe with.

Harriett Standridge's 18 points meant a 29-21 verdict for Sylvan in the girl's game. Bobby Wright and Betty Ashmore put an eight each beside their names for Brown.

Roberts-Led Tigers Beat North Fultons

Northside Takes 56-39 Game; Staples Chips In With 15

By CHARLIE LEWIS

Northside got an inside-outside scoring punch worth 35 points Friday night to swamp home-standing North Fulton, 56-39.

Center Roy Roberts provided the inside punch that accounted for 20 points and mastery of the backboards while substitute guard Max Staples fired in 15 points from the outside to send the once-beaten Northsiders to their fifth City League win in the northern division.

North Fulton kept it close in the first quarter, with the lead changing five times before the end of the period. But Staples and Tiny Williamson began hitting in the second quarter and the Tigers were never headed again.

Roberts hit 11 of his points in the final period to push Northside to its final margin. Jim Phillips' 13 points led the North Fulton scoring.

The Northside girls remained unbeaten by taking the opener, 56-43, as Caryl Lenahan dropped in 32 points. The win was the sixth northern division triumph for Northside. Judy Seay had 22 points for the winners.

Rome Stops Keiser, but Not Decatur

Bulldogs March On Mason's Spree

Special to The Constitution

ROME, Jan. 25—Rome High's Hilltoppers set up a successful strategy to curb Decatur's sharp-shooting center Don Keiser here Friday night; but Keiser's teammate Alfred Mason took over the center's scoring activities and led the Decaturites to a 49-45 victory.

Earlier the Decatur girls downed the Rome lassies, 44-37.

The Hilltoppers used the highly effective zone defense to stop Keiser, who in most of his previous games this season has averaged 26 points per game. He was limited to 14 tonight. The fast-moving scoring ace made only four points in the last half. While the Hilltoppers were limiting his effectiveness in that half, however, Mason was able to get the range to drop in 10 of his 16 points for the evening.

The game looked nearly like a Rome victory for three quarters. The Hilltoppers led almost all the way until the final quarter, when Decatur's Bulldogs went ahead and stayed. Rome led, 29-22, at the half; and early in the third quarter, the home team led by 10 points.

Forward Hugh Green and guard Bryant led the Rome attack. Green scored 16 and Bryant 17.

Pat Meyer scored 31 for the Decatur girls, Wylene Pierce led Rome scoring with 24 points.

Roosevelt Upsets Smith For First City Victory

By MILLARD J. POSEY

Roosevelt High's Crimson Tide won its first league basketball game of the season by upsetting Lamar Echols and Smith's other Smithies, 43-38, at the Smith gym Friday night. The home team won the girls' game, 46-32.

The high-scoring Echols was limited to 15 points, a total far beneath his usual output. The limitation was imposed first by the expert defensive work of Roosevelt guard Raymond Summers and later by excessive fouls that kept the towering center on the bench for almost half the game.

Summers' efforts were as costly to himself as they were to Echols, however. Both amassed four fouls before the game was a quarter old, and both left the game early in the game early in the second and stayed out until late in the third and both finally fouled out in the game's last minutes.

Echols scored five points before his first departure and 10 after his return to take top scoring honors. Sub Charlie Rogers, who came in to replace Summers, finished high for Roosevelt with 12 points. Harold Minix had 11 for the winners, including six resulting from three field goals that sewed up the victory for Roosevelt late in the final frame.

In the girls' game, Dot Griffin scored 19 points for Smith, Miriam Pickins 15 for Roosevelt.

MFP Airing Planned by House Panel

A thorough airing of the controversy over current financing of the Minimum Foundation Program for Education is planned by the Education Committee of the Georgia House.

Chairman William Bodenhamer of Tift County and Secretary Battle Hall of Floyd County said the committee also wants to study the effect on local systems of unfreezing the charge-back and other phases of public school financing.

They said a resolution authorizing a sweeping investigation by the Education Committee will be introduced in the House Monday.

State School Supt. M. D. Collins endorsed the idea. "Let's put the cards on the table face up and see what the facts are," he said. "Then we can decide what to do."

Current financing of the Minimum Foundation Program has been a goal of school people since the program was activated in 1951. The State Department of Education insists it now is being financed on a current basis.

But other school people claim it is not and that the charge-back freeze should not be taken off until the program financing is current.

Charge-back is the formula by which a local school system's contribution to its minimum program is determined. It was frozen by the Legislature several years ago. Since then local tax digests and other factors in computing charge-back have risen.

Writ To Forbid New Trailways Route Is Refused

Fulton Superior Court Judge Virlyn Moore has refused to issue an injunction against the Public Service Commission to prohibit Atlantic Trailways bus runs from Atlanta to Macon.

Greyhound Lines and Modern Coach Co. sought the injunction after the commission approved the Atlantic Trailways request for the Atlanta-Macon run.

Attorney T. Baldwin Martin, who represents Trailways, said beginning of the Atlanta-Macon service will be delayed pending appeal by the other two companies to the state Supreme Court.

He said the two firms announced they will appeal. They have 20 days in which to file a bill of exceptions.

Billy Graham

Promote Faith To Kill Doubt

QUESTION: I very vividly remember accepting Christ as my personal Saviour at the age of 9. But now I feel so unsure of myself and my Christian position. I am so ashamed of certain things in my life and feel frustrated, cheated and very guilty. Have you any advice that can help me?

MRS. J. J. R.

ANSWER: Obviously God has forgiven you but you have never forgiven yourself. It is unfortunate that many people who believe implicitly in Christ, never really believe in themselves. Consequently, they go through life reproaching themselves, frustrated and defeated. To question God's work of grace in your heart is to question God's ability and workmanship. The Bible says He doeth all things well, and that includes your salvation.

We are not only saved by faith, but we continue the Christian life by faith. The Bible says: "As ye therefore have received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in Him; rooted and built up in him. . . ." (Col. 2:6.)

You have nourished your doubts until you have smothered your faith. Now nourish your faith until you smother your doubts. Three things I would like you to do: first, set aside a definite time for devotions. Second, begin to think of others and their needs, and begin to serve Christ by witnessing. And third, forget the past. God has forgotten your sins, now you forget them and trust Him fully for your salvation.

Clarkston Dedication

The $32,000 educational building of the Clarkston Methodist Church will be dedicated this Sunday by Bishop Arthur J. Moore.

Bishop Moore will preach the 11 a.m. sermon. Other ministers participating in the service will be the Rev. J. Walker Chidsey, superintendent of the Decatur-Oxford District; the Rev. Charles T. Gray, former pastor of the church, and the Rev. Forrest L. King, pastor. A picnic lunch will be spread in the building following the service.

The building had been completed about three and one-half years ago but, according to Methodist law, the dedication could not be held until all indebtedness had been retired.

EMORY PRESIDENT CONFERS WITH BISHOP
Dr. White, right, Bishop Moore at Anniversary Celebration

1,000 Hail Dr. White at Emory Fete

By HAROLD RHODEN

More than 1,000 persons Friday night paid tribute to retiring Emory President Dr. Goodrich C. White during the university's 120th anniversary celebration.

An Alumni Assn. Award of Honor, expressing the sentiment of more than 20,000 graduates, was presented to White, under whose leadership "the university has attained its greatest stature and prestige."

HEAR BISHOP MOORE

Bishop Arthur J. Moore told the audience in the Emory gymnasium that "it is too easy for us to imagine we made Emory the great university it is . . . that we invested our own talents and money and resources . . . actually. . . ."

"All we have achieved, however, has come from men already gone in most cases but who have left dreams we have helped attain. To live 120 years itself is a significant fact. But to live as redeemfully as Emory has, indeed is worthy of this gathering," Moore said.

He substituted at the last minute for Dr. Hollis Edens, president of Duke University who was unable to attend because of illness.

SUCCESSOR UNNAMED

No word of a candidate came from the presidential nominating committee headed by Charles Howard Candler Sr. The committee had been expected to announce a choice for the president's post after White retires in September.

Dr. Alton V. Hallum, physician, was elected president of the Atlanta-Emory Club to succeed Dr. Charles L. Allen. More than 1,000 alumni clubs throughout the nation and in Japan and Germany met Friday in honor of the anniversary.

Dog Is Still at Large With Deadly Disease

Tiny the beagle, missing for the past three days with the Communicable Disease Center's only case of leptospirosis, continued at large late Friday.

Tiny, described as about a year old with a black "blanket" of hair over his back and a "collar" of white hair below his tan head, has the disease which CDC officials said "can be fatal to humans contracting it."

The dog, used in leptospirosis research directed by Mrs. Mildred M. Galton, a CDC bacteriologist, was last reported seen dragging a rope attached to his neck. He escaped from CDC's Chamblee laboratories and has been the object of a 150-man organized search. The police and public were alerted Thursday.

CITY HALL NEWS

MacDougall Warns of Bond Limits

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Robert L. MacDougall, chairman of the joint Atlanta-Fulton County citizens' bond advisory committee, Friday warned that a projected $70,000,000-plus bond issue must meet approval of voters and also must be within legal limitations.

MacDougall's statement came at a meeting of the public buildings committee of the bond group at which city needs were explored. Ben Massell, committee chairman, called the session and set a similar session for 12:45 p.m. next Thursday when Fulton officials will present their views.

Massell added a public hearing will be held before any definite recommendations are decided upon. Date and time will be set later.

MAYOR LISTS NEEDS

Mayor Hartsfield listed pressing city needs as a new police station, air-conditioning and modernization of elevator service at the city hall, and need for additional office space for city functions.

Massell's committee talked briefly about relocation of downtown fire stations and a $500,000 fund earmarked to widen sidewalk areas in the downtown area where streets have been widened but buildings have not been set back, thus restricting pedestrian travel. No action is expected on any project prior to the public meeting.

City Comptroller Earl Landers said the city has an unused bonding capacity of $38,520,000. It, however, was indicated that requests will substantially exceed that figure. Landers said city debt is limited to eight per cent of the $894,000,000 gross 1956 digest. This would give a bonding capacity of $71,520,000 from which $33,000,000 must be deducted for outstanding bonds.

COUNTY'S MARGIN

City schools could issue $35,760,000 in bonds if they spent up to the 4 per cent limitation. There are no outstanding school obligations at this time which schools must pay. Past school bonded indebtedness is included in city obligations.

Fulton County could issue $53,780,000 worth of bonds if it used its 7 per cent legal limit for the $768,288,000 digest for 1956, Alvin E. Fuller, county manager, said. Outstanding are $16,450,000 in unpaid bonds, leaving a net of $37,330,000 available.

Neither city schools not Fulton County will ask their bonding limit, under existing plans, but city requests are expected to exceed the amount available. It then will become the task of the bond commission, aldermen and the mayor to cut the requests to fit available funds.

All members of Massell's committee attended the meeting.

Burglaries Plague City; 3 Arrested

Three suspects were arrested early Friday as shotgun-armed police squads attempted to break a sharp upswing in burglary complaints, chiefly in the downtown section.

Morning watch uniform officers apprehended the three. They said one was discovered hiding inside an Edgewood avenue furniture store while the other two were surprised while tunneling through the floor of a Peachtree street market.

THOSE ARRESTED

Those under arrest were listed as Gordon Shaw, 28, of Smyrna; Glenn Taylor, 28, of a Moreland avenue, NE, address, and David L. Reece, 24, Negro, of 57 Yonge St., SE.

Patrolmen I. C. Andrews and H. F. Beavers said they found Reece hiding under a counter in a furniture store at 365 Edgewood Ave., NE. He was held for suspicion of burglary.

Shaw and Taylor had forced a lock on the basement of a grocery store at 1402 Peachtree St., NE, and were attempting to cut through the floor, Patrolmen H. A. Warneke and A. E. McKinnon said. They also were held for suspicion of burglary.

Meantime, 11 other burglaries were reported overnight.

SCHOOL ENTERED

They included a burglary and attempted safe robbery at the Frank L. Stanton School, 1625 Moseley Dr., SW; the residence of Robert Louis Bishop at 528 Highland Ave., NE, looted of a television set, a radio, clothes; a raid at a plastering company at 204 Auburn Ave., NE, with no loss reported.

A feed store at 1660 DeKalb Ave., NE, $50; a restaurant at 687 Memorial Dr., SE, small amount of change; a service station at 320 Luckie St., NW, a radio, cigarettes and $4 missing; residence of C. M. Kite at 2441 Baxter Rd., SW, ransacked; residence of Charles E. Sullivan at 403 Mt. Zion Rd., SW, ransacked.

Residence of Mrs. P. H. Ginn, of 1151 Huff Rd., NW, radio missing; an iron and metal company at 252 Decatur St., SE, no known loss; an ice cream company at 81 Georgia Ave., SW, loss not determined.

Car Tag Sales Lag; Price-Cut Bill Waited

Auto tag sales are lagging because owners are waiting to see if the Legislature is going to cut the prices, the state motor vehicle license unit said Friday.

Director Grady Bannister said county sales reports so far received indicate sales are running well behind the same period last year.

He said many owners are delaying buying new plates until the Legislature acts on bills designed to return tag taxes to their 1955 level—about half the present rate.

The 1957 plates went on sale Jan. 1 and will continue until April 1.

Viruses Bloom As Germs Die, Surgeon Says

Diseases caused by viruses "seem to be on the increase" in this country, Dr. W. Palmer Dearing, deputy surgeon general, U.S. Public Health Service, said in Atlanta Friday.

Dr. Dearing, whose headquarters is Washington, D.C., was in Atlanta to visit the Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center here.

Discussing viruses, he said they are "not so amenable to the miracle drugs" which have helped control illnesses caused by bacteria. He noted bacterial diseases have been "pushed into the back seat" by the sulfa drugs and antibiotics.

An "apparent increase" in infectious hepatitis was noted by Dr. Dearing. Hepatitis—which is marked by jaundice and an inflammation of the liver—is a virus-caused disease, he explained.

Dr. Dearing said hepatitis appeared in epidemic form among American troops in the Italian campaign during World War II—and it is "still a serious problem today."

The deputy surgeon general said communicable diseases have been compared to weeds in a garden.

"You eliminate one kind," he pointed out, "and another kind crops up."

Stalled Car Pushed 30 Feet—Down

Police Friday were searching for a driver who they said had no qualms about hitting a fellow when he was already down.

J. D. Wilson, 50, of Smyrna, said his car ran out of gasoline on Marietta boulevard near Chattahoochee avenue. Wilson set out walking towards a service station.

He said a driver paused at his car, made a U-turn in the street and then shoved his car over a 30-foot embankment.

GEORGIA NEWS ROUNDUP

Sen. Kennedy Addresses Albany C of C Feb. 7

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) has accepted an invitation to address the annual dinner meeting of the Albany Chamber of Commerce Feb. 7.

It will be the young lawmaker's first appearance in the South since he became the vice presidential choice of many Southerners in an unsuccessful effort to block nomination of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) at last year's national Democratic convention.

James H. Gray, editor and publisher of The Albany Herald and president of the chamber, said, "The showing made by the senator at Chicago is largely responsible for his invitation to speak" here.

Gray disclosed that both Georgia senators, Herman Talmadge and Richard Russell, visited Kennedy in support of the Albany invitation. Their visit indicated that they might have some interest in seeing the young Democrat sound out Southern political sentiment concerning his chances for support at the 1960 convention.

'Quartetto' Stirring in Concert Here

The Quartetto Italiano, here Friday in the Music Club series, offered a moving evening of intimate music.

Their talents unfolded like a flowering bud. From the first they exhibited a youthful, zestful approach and a delicate tone, sensitively blending the timbres of their instruments.

The first work, a capriccio by Vivaldi, was an early composition almost naive in its transparent beauty. The second, a sonata by Neri, was only a little more subtle.

With a Mozart quartet (K 421—an eminently satisfying choice) the ensemble showed for the first time its ability to interpret a composer of emotional depth. With a fresh, exhilarating touch, the musicians brought this imaginative work to a fitting crescendo of fervor. In the concluding quartet, they ably met the challenge of Debussy's slithering rhythms, sunbursts of lyricism and remarkable sonorities. —BRUCE GALPHIN.

Self Gets 20 Yrs. In Bank Holdup At Locust Grove

John Henry Self, 34-year-old Tuckerton, N.J., man convicted of participating in the $4,140 Locust Grove bank robbery, was sentenced to 20 years in prison in federal court here Friday.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank A. Hooper imposed a 20-year sentence on each of two counts of robbery and threatening the lives of bank employes, but made the sentences concurrent.

Self, who was convicted of the charges by a federal jury here on Jan. 16, filed immediate oral notice Friday that he will appeal the sentences. Calvin Roy Orr, 35, of Smyrna, also indicted as one of the two masked men who robbed the Farmers Bank on Aug. 30, is to be tried at a later date.

5,000 Poultrymen Meet Here Monday

About 5,000 poultrymen will converge here Monday for the largest poultry trade show ever to be held in the South.

The 10th annual Southeastern Poultry and Egg Assn. Convention will be held at the auditorium.

Some 240 stores will be set up in the auditorium for display purposes.

Bill To Ease Traffic Case Appeals Is Hit

Debate stirred Friday on whether a House-approved bill will flood Georgia's superior courts with appeals from minor traffic and mayor's courts over the state.

Cobb County Sol. Gen. Luther Hames, president of the Georgia Association of Solicitors General, said that if his information on the bill is correct, it "will practically bring to a halt any successful trials on major felonies."

And if his interpretation is correct, Hames said, the state's solicitors general "certainly will oppose" the bill.

Rep. Frank Twitty of Mitchell, who introduced HB-64, declared the measure is "not going to clog any courts." He said it probably would cause only "a few" more appeals from traffic courts than there are now.

Approved without opposition Thursday in the House, the bill would allow persons who feel they were unfairly convicted in recorder's or mayor's courts—or any court where there is no right of trial by jury—to appeal directly to superior courts, Twitty explained.

The bill would supplant what Twitty described as the "cumbersome" method of appeal by writ of certiorari.

Ex-Car Salesman Gets 3 Years In Forgery, Auto Theft Here

A former used car salesman, whose break for freedom last week ended when he ran full tilt into a telephone pole, has received a three-year sentence on 20 counts of forgery and a count each of larceny of an automobile and larceny after trust.

Dewey Lamar Hill entered a plea of guilty in Fulton Superior Court. Judge Ralph H. Pharr said Hill's four three-year sentences would run concurrently. Judge Pharr also revoked a previous 10-year sentence.

Hill began serving a two-to-five-year sentence last February for auto theft. He was given a 60-day prison furlough in July to undergo an operation, and later was given a 90-day extension.

Atlanta police said Hill forged checks totaling $18,000 and stole a car while he was supposedly getting the operation. Hill later surrendered at the DeKalb County jail.

Last week, Hill was released on a court order to visit a dentist. On his way back to Fulton Tower, he picked his handcuffs with a bobby pin and jumped from the sheriff's department car at Piedmont avenue and Decatur street. As the two deputies fired at Hill, he ran full tilt into a telephone pole, knocking himself unconscious.

'I Can See!' Jeanette Cries After Eye Operation Here

When a large white bandage was removed from the left eye of Mrs. Jeanette Hendricks at Georgia Baptist Hospital Friday, she exclaimed jubilantly: "I can see!"

Mrs. Hendricks, of 2191 Bolton Dr., NW, had undergone a delicate eye operation—and the doctor was testing her vision for the first time since the surgery.

"I can see Bill," the young woman said happily.

"Bill" is Airman First Class William E. Hendricks, the man she had married a year ago but had never seen clearly.

Jeanette has been "practically" blind for the past two years. She is totally blind in her right eye.

Severely crippled by arthritis for many years, she has managed to maintain a bright and cheerful outlook. But the disease caused inflammation in her eyes that led to blindness.

Doctors tried to "save" her one good eye two years ago by removing a cataract. That helped her vision temporarily—and then a flareup of arthritis caused a thickening of the membrane inside the pupil of her eye, doctors said.

Mrs. Hendricks is the former Jeanette Hulsey, whose long fight against arthritis has been described periodically by Harold Martin, Atlanta Constitution columnist. Martin was at her bedside when the bandage was removed from her eye Friday. He had been "best man" for Hendricks when he married Jeanette on Jan. 13, 1956.

Dances Keep 'Em Busy

By ELIZABETH MORGAN

Teen-age dances busted out all over Atlanta Thursday and Friday nights.

North Fulton High seniors swung high and low at their Oklahoma Swing in the school gymnasium. About 150 hayseeds, country folk and early Westerners showed up to dance to a combo organized by Carl Hulbert, bandleader at the school.

Though the party went hoedown style with cornstalks, guns, cowboy hats and jugs aplenty, the combo furnished sweet swing and hot jitterbug music for dancing.

The hillbilly flavor came at intermission when a male quartet from the school performed. Country hicks Louie Sulcer, Bobby Maxey, Billy Jackson and Charles Breithaupt sang "Why, Baby, Why," "Kiss of Fire," and a few numbers that Constitution correspondent Jim Phillips couldn't remember.

Cap pistols accented the festivities at the annual affair. But a touch of reality, when an unidentified "cowboy" fired a blank cartridge, left a loud impression on the dancers.

The Senior Cabinet, made up of two students from each senior home room, had charge of the party which was, according to the correspondent, a lot of fun. Bill Hardcastle headed the student committee.

SILVER SLIPPER BALL

Cinderella and Prince Charming reigned again at Grady High's annual Silver Slipper Ball.

Seniors Gail Morrison and T. R. Smith were crowned at intermission of the annual affair which was held at Peachtree Gardens. The fairy tale stars ruled over a court—one couple from each grade level — also chosen by student body vote.

Seniors Joan Munford and Leonard Hagerman, juniors Isabelle Scarborough and Terry Parker, Muriel Hanner and Sy Brown from the 10th grade, ninth-graders Mary Long Timmerman and Jim Howard, and Joy Woodard and Richard Alterman of the eighth grade formed the court which walked across the dance floor to the music of Clayton Callaway's band.

Three-dimensional snowflakes featured the winter theme. Thrones for Cinderella and Prince Charming and giant silver slippers added flavor to the formal ball.

Carmen Allen and Earl Saye, co-presidents of the Student Council which sponsored the ball, crowned the celebrities.

In the words of Carol Stephens, Constitution correspondent, "It almost always rains, and it started raining just as the dance began, but the ball was really fabulous."

YOUTH CENTER DANCE

One hundred teen-agers turned up at Ed Cook School for the Jaycee-Y Youth Center's World Service Dance.

About 200 boys and girls belong to the center which is sponsored jointly by the Jaycees, YMCA and Hoke Smith Community Council. The dance is one of the center's projects to help raise money for the Y's mission program in 29 foreign countries. Last year the teen-agers raised 75 per cent of the $9,300 contributed to YMCA World Service.

Mike McKool, president of the youth center, took charge of preparations for the dance. A dozen members decorated the Cook auditorium with pennants and palm leaves. Walter Cunningham's 14-piece orchestra furnished dance music for the informal affair.

Silver Ball

The March of Dimes got a boost Friday night when more than 400 teen-agers danced at the Atlanta Teen Council's annual Silver Ball.

Thirteen teen clubs in city park community centers around the town pooled their talents to highlight the evening with entertainment and bright decorations.

A teen queen crowned by Ernest Rogers, 1957 March of Dimes chairman, reigned over the half-time show put on strictly by teen-agers.

Barbara Lansdale and Robert Murdaugh from the East Lake Community Center formed a dance team. From the Perkerson Park center came Larry Melvin, director-singer of a teen-age combo. And Carolyn Parker, Diane Barber, and Jeanette Myers from the East Lake center sang in a trio.

The girls came formal and the boys in suits to the dance—admission by donation — which carried out a "Winter Wonderland" theme.

Teen-agers in each of the 13 clubs painted tempera murals of winter scenes.

'Let's Get Together'

Future Homemakers at Smith High are teaching eighth grade students the meaning of Conelrad, the communication system for civil defense.

They prepared a skit called "Let's Get Together" which shows what three women might do in case their neighborhood is attacked.

That evening at 8 Mrs. William E. Arnaud will entertain informally in their honor at her Mt. Paran road home.

"I feel that such an occasion deserves a celebration," said Mrs. Arnaud, "so I have invited 25 of their friends to celebrate with them."

The sisters came to this country from Italy in 1947 on a visitor's visa. Then they went to Cuba for a year and a half and came in on that country's quota in May, 1951. They live with their 91-year-old mother, Mrs. Jenny Menaboni, at 50 E. Brookhaven Dr.

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD EBERSOLE are anticipating a Florida vacation that will take them down one coast and back the other and covering many interesting spots on both.

Leaving here on Monday, they will drive as far as Ormond Beach to be guests for several days of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Akers at Coral Sands. Then they will go on to Miami for the races.

Crossing the state, they will head for Paradise Point, one of the most beautiful spots on Crystal River. There they will hire a guide and try their luck at fishing for bass and trout. They especially look forward to tying up each day at noon and going ashore to have their catch fried and served up with hush puppies.

They also look forward to having Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rogers and the Richard Hardwicks join them there as a climax to their three-week trip.

MR. AND MRS. BEN T. SMITH are just back from Senatobia, Miss., where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore at their Double E Ranch. En route home they stopped for a visit at Jackson, Tenn., where they lived while Mr. Smith was in the Army during World War II.

Mr. Smith and his son, Ben Jr., leave today for Fort Worth, Tex., where they have entered their Georgia state champion Polled Hereford bull, Windsweep Victor, in the Southwestern Exposition.

During their absence, Miss Eleanor Smith will be with her mother at their W. Paces Ferry road home. She arrives Monday from Mt. Vernon Seminary, Washington, D.C., for a brief holiday because she was excused from mid-term exams.

MISS MARGUERITE McDANIEL is expected today from Sweet Briar for a week's mid-term holiday with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. McDaniel, on W. Wesley road.

LT. WILLIAM G. ROGERS, USN, has arrived for a two-week leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rogers of Palifox drive, after a year and a half of duty in the Far East. At the termination of his leave he will report to San Diego, Calif.

IN CELEBRATION OF THE FOUNDING of the DKE fraternity, members of the chapter at Georgia Tech will entertain at a dance this evening at the East Atlanta Exchange Club.

Tomorrow evening a banquet will be held at Mammy's Shanty, with the fraternity's national president, James G. Logan of Kansas City, as the principal speaker. William A. Reed of West Palm Beach is the chapter president.

MRS. KARL L. ICENOGLE will entertain members of Nu chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, honorary teachers' sorority, at luncheon today at 12 o'clock at her home at 134 Terrace Dr., NE.

Achievers Spotlighted Next Week

National Junior Achievement Week—a time to spotlight the activities of 50,000 teen-agers in the United States—is scheduled for Jan. 27 through Feb. 2.

Junior Achievement programs are sponsored by members of local businesses and industries. Youngsters aged 15 to 19 organize and manage small scale business enterprises but draw their counsel from the adults.

Teen-agers form the board of directors, the working force and the sales staff. They choose a product or service to sell, issue stocks, and carry out all the activities of regular business or industry. Gross sales of Junior Achievement companies this year will hit about $1,000,000.

Companies are liquidated at the end of the program year which runs from September to May. More than 3,000 companies were organized last fall in cities and towns around the country. Fourteen thousand business and industrial firms support its activities.

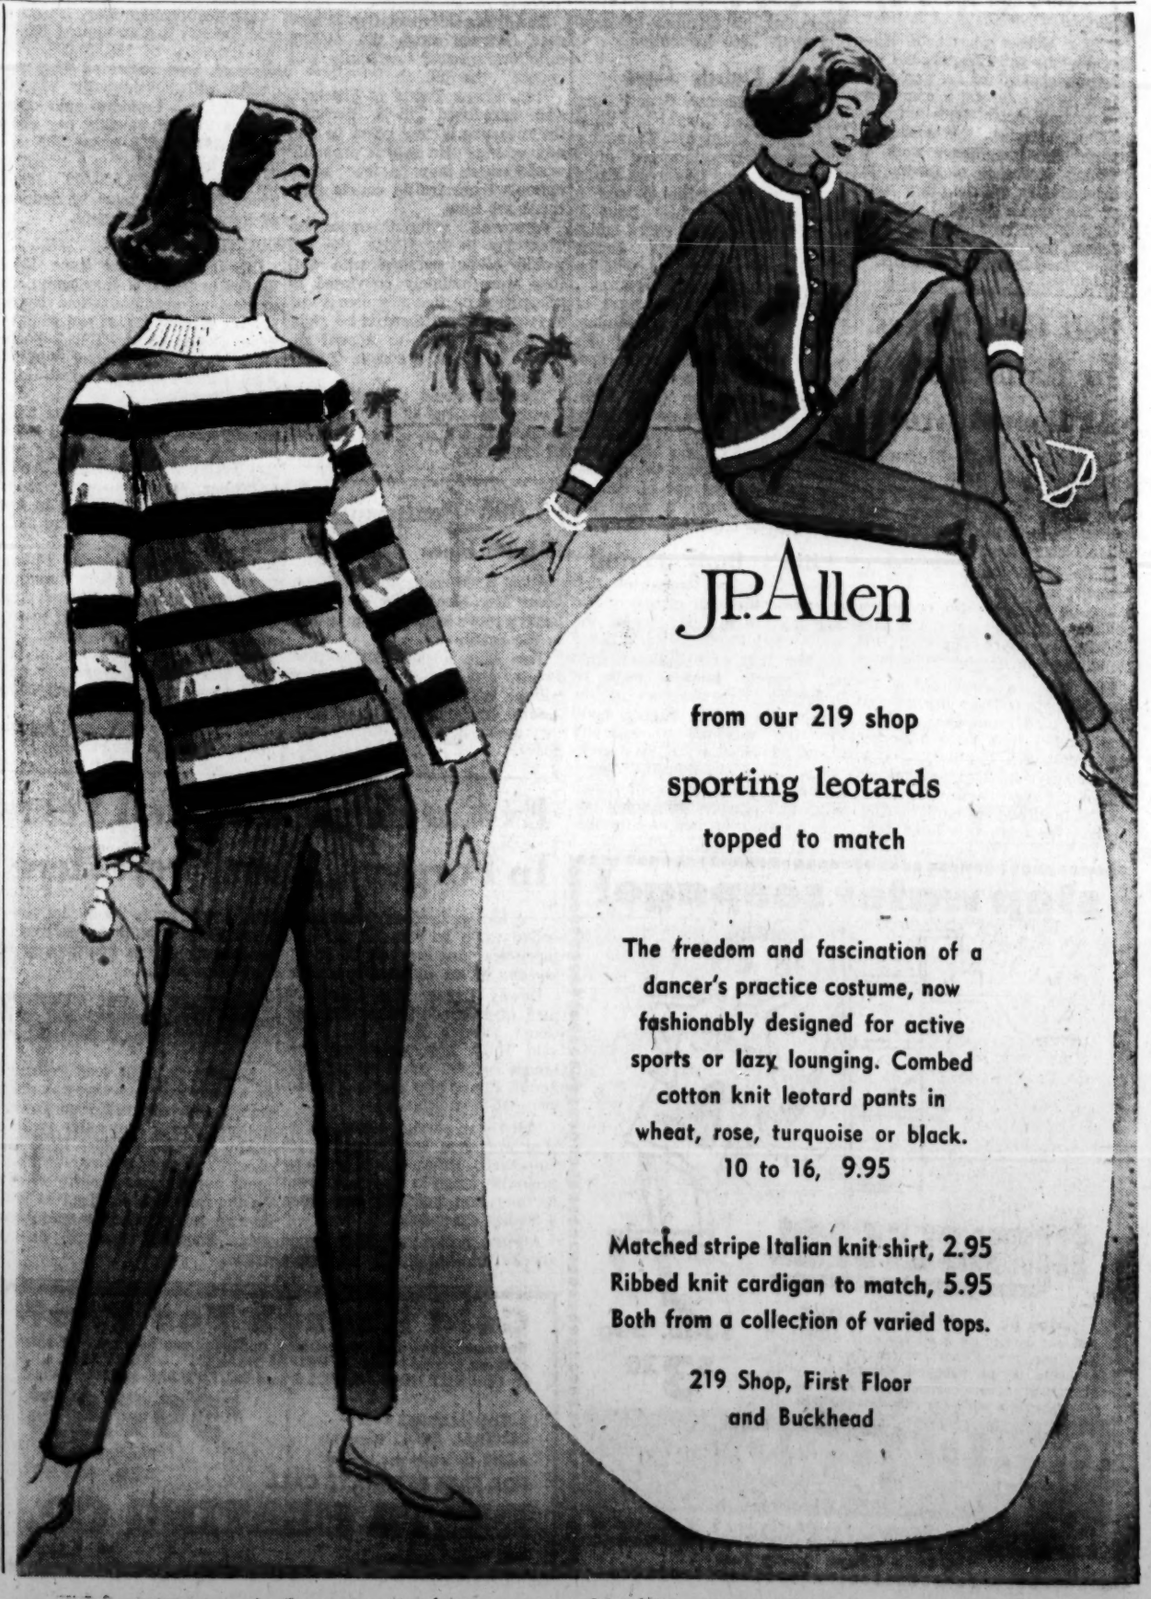

Next week in Atlanta scholarships in public speaking and human relations will be awarded to 41 of 150 Junior Achievers trying for the prize. Radio and television stations will broadcast news of the group's activities. Achievers and their counselors will be interviewed. And members of the board of directors will speak.

YOUR STARS TODAY

Daily Guide—The moon is waning; the new moon appears next Wednesday. So far the next few days one should not attempt to push new projects or expect too much in the way of new interests.

It is a time for slowing down, working behind the scenes, reflecting on what has past, and making plans for the future.

With Saturn in Saggittarius, we must learn to organize and direct our enthusiasm, otherwise frustration can extend the disorganization and bring defeat to our plans. Instead of showing strength by making a big noise, try to hue to the line and fulfill some of your resolutions.

Happy Birthday, Aquarius! The new cycles which have begun for you may not develop immediately but you ought to be able to see the trend towards changes in your relationships with other people, your mate or partners, or competitors or public.

This is the beginning of some unpredictable changes, breaking off of old ties and starting linking of new ones. In the meantime a slow but subtle change in your career or ambitions can be felt.

Keep practical but strive for some more idealistic or creative approach. Old friends or loved ones can support you this year in your efforts.

Slumping Steels Push List Down

Selling Becomes Infectious As Key Losses Run to $3

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—Steels weighted the scales to push an irregular stock market downward today. The market was mixed at the outset although a tendency toward the downside was apparent.

Early in the session some heavy selling hit steels. Their losses became infectious and the entire list sloughed off.

Key stocks lost from fractions to around 3 points. Only a sprinkling of the pivotal issues punched out gains, mostly fractional.

A fair-sized crop of special situations led to a variety of gains and losses among secondary issues.

Brokers said the small volume that accompanied the slightly rising markets of the previous three days gave little indication of underlying strength at this phase.

There was a widespread feeling that the averages would have to test the November lows before a reversal of the lower January trend would be in the cards.

Meanwhile, steels were affected by additional Wall Street reports of slackening in demand from the auto industry.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 80 cents to $176.20 with industrials down $1.40, rails 90 cents and utilities 10 cents.

Of 1,164 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances by 624 to 310. There were 28 new 1956-'57 lows and eight new highs.

American Stock Exchange was lower on 880,000 shares compared with 890,000 yesterday.

Writ To Forbid New Trailways Route Is Refused

Fulton Superior Court Judge Virlyn Moore has refused to issue an injunction against the Public Service Commission to prohibit Atlantic Trailways bus runs from Atlanta to Macon.

Greyhound Lines and Modern Coach Co. sought the injunction after the commission approved the Atlantic Trailways request for the Atlanta-Macon run.

Attorney T. Baldwin Martin, who represents Trailways, said beginning of the Atlanta-Macon service will be delayed pending appeal by the other two companies to the state Supreme Court.

He said the two firms announced they will appeal. They have 20 days in which to file a bill of exceptions.

Marshall Hall Elected a Pepperell Director

LINDALE, Ga., Jan. 25 (AP). Marshall B. Hall of Atlanta, president of the Trust Company of Georgia and a banker with textile experience, today was elected a director of the Pepperell Manufacturing Co.

(A bank spokesman said Hall still is in a Sarasota hospital, where doctors report he is making slow recovery from injuries suffered in an auto wreck near the Florida city Jan. 14.)

Members of the board of directors elected him at a meeting here. It was the first time in the more than 100 years of Pepperell's history that the board met in the South. Headquarters is in Boston.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our loving mother, grandmother, daughter and sister, Mrs. Mamie Speer, who departed this life one year ago today, Jan. 26, 1956.

We will never forget, the years may wipe out many things, but this they will wipe out never: The memory of those happy days when we were all together.

We think of her in silence, her name we often recall;
But there's nothing left to answer, but her picture on the wall.
Just when her life was brightest, just when her hope was best,
God called her from among us, to a home of eternal rest.

MRS. EVELYN YOUNG, Mother, CHILDREN, GRANDCHILDREN AND SISTERS.
